

PUBLIC LIBRARY FORT WAYNE & ALLEN CO., IND.

ENLIUTON

1902

THE ARCHER PRINTING CO.

E TOUR WAYNE, IND.

13676

	Presented to the Public Sibrary -
	The Class of 1912 Mossman, Varnelle & Co.
	Tron
	and Steel
e ale ale ale al	at the strate of	sta - t

PO Box 227 Fort Wayne, IN 40801-2270

THE PEOPLE'S STORE

FORT WAYNE'S GREAT POPULAR DRY GOODS AND CLOAK HOUSE

WF HAVE IN STOCK AT ALL TIMES THE LARGEST AND MOST COMPLETE ASSORT-MENT OF FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC DRY GOODS AT PRICES ALWAYS LOWER THAN ANYWHERE ELSE

THE PEOPLE'S STORE

One Price to All

BEADELL & COMPANY

Best Lighted Store in the City

C. GOCKE

 ${
m W}$ hen You Get Married Every young man expects to get married, or ought to; every young woman is not unmindful of the fact that Mr. Right may cross her path when she is least expecting it. When the occasion arises we want to sell you your HOUSEKEEPING OUT-FIT. Charge your mind now with

Sells the Best

ICF.

CREAM

SODA in the City YOUR....

DRUGGIST

this expressed wish of ours and at the proper time come and see us.

Foster Furniture and Carpet Co.

$10 IN CASH GIVEN AWAY

Each week at our store. Each dollar you trade with us entitles you to one ticket. Keep your tickets until Saturday night. If the number put in the window corresponds with one of your tickets come down and get the $10. OUR NEW SPRING CLOTHING IS READY FOR YOU.

REUBEN S. PATTERSON

GRINDS

KINNAIRD (in literature) -Don't you think Banquo was a kind of a two-fixed fellow?

Mr. McMillers—That depends upon the way you look at him.

MR. PRICE Why is Greenland called what it is?

Martha Pierce - Because the people don't know anything.
Mr. Prici - If that were the case, we'd have a great many Greenlands

Miss Hull, (in literature —Cherubims are cherubs -just little ones, you know.

George Thorward etranslating Vergil = 1 drenched his speech with my ears,

Bob, Kinnaird Grace, Grace, you have a sweet face.

Grace SMFFH (who had taken some lime-water in her mouth)

-1 have some lime-water in my mouth.

Mr. Crowf That is good for babies.

A. C. Aurentz

Leading Confectioner

Elaborate Display

And Special Low Prices on Go-Carts and Baby Carriages.

For Presents of all kinds call at Kane's: Fancy Toilet Sets, Albums, Pocket-books, Parasols, Belts, Work Boxes, Baseball Goods, Dolls, Toys, Fishing Tackle, Fancy Goods of all kinds at

JAMES M. KANE'S

614 Calhoun Street

ANDREW FOSTER

Merchant Tailor

Has the Largest and IMPORGED and Finest Assortment of DOMESTIC WOOLENS

IN THE STATE AT

15 West Wayne Street Fort Wayne, Ind.

Ask for Fine Quality Groceries Under

"Perfect" Brand

Standard Quality Under

"Ambrosia" Brand

. They Will Please You

FOR SALE BY

A. H. PERFECT & CO.

GOLDEN, the HATTER HATTER AND MEN'S

FURNISHER #

Agents for Dunlap Hats

Trunks and Graveling Bags

CORNER CALHOUN AND BERRY STREETS FORT WAYNE, INDIANA

PICKARD BROS.

...HEADOUARTERS FOR ...

FURNITURE, STOVES AND CHINAWARE

OUR LINE OF GO-CARTS IS UNSURPASSED

... WE CARRY A COMPLETE STOCK OF ...

Refrigerators, Gas Ranges, Hot Plates, Gasoline Stoves, Etc. 112 and 114 east columbia street

The Best Place in the City to Get

A GLASS OF SODA WATER

DRAWN JUST RIGHT IS AT

LOESCH'S DRUG STORE

Corner Barr and Wayne Sts.

We Use Only Pure Fruit Juices in Our Syrups

PRICE What are the Doldrums?

CHARLOTTE HABERKORN—Overgrown hurricanes.

MIS McCullough (in history) They formed a court to try all murder cases, except homicides.

NITA HEYMAN—No one was happy, till he died well.

JUNIOR GIRL stranslating German — He looked into the gentle even of the maiden.

SECOND JUNIOR GIRL sinterrupting — Mr. von Kahlden, 1

SECOND JUNIOR GIRL (interrupting —AIr, von Kaniden, I don't see any sense in that!

CLARA OWER (translating German) The fire roared like a contented cat.

Miss Welch-He became the wife of his own mother.

THE RANDALL WHEEL COMPANY

Bicycles and Sporting Goods, Automobiles, Motor Cycles, Fishing Tackle and $\alpha \omega \om

DOUBLE STORE.... Corner Berry and Harrison Sts.

S. W. HULL WALL PAPER

WINDOW SHADES, ROOM MOULDING, PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, VARNISH, HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTING, PAPER HANGING, CALIMINING, GRAINING, WALL TINTING, HARDWOOD FINISHING, ETC.

OLD No. 27 CLINTON NEW No. 613 CLINTON BELL PHONE 250 HOME PHONE 250 MAIN

Chicago Bakery

HEADQUARTERS FOR

FANCY BAKING

OF ALL KINDS

Pure Ice Cream and Fruit Ices

W. F. GELLER

PELLENS & POLSTER

LEADING DRUGGISTS

A complete line of Perfumes, Toilet Articles, Trusses, Crutches, Shoulder Braces

AGENTS FOR VINOL

CORNER CALHOUN AND WAYNE STREETS

Columbia Candy Kitchen

THE ONLY PLACE FOR Pure Confections and Delicious Ice Cream Soda

734 CALHOUN STREET, Near Cor. Berry Street

PIXLEY & CO.

Makers and Sellers of Fine Ready=to=Wear Clothing

Will be pleased to have your presence grace their store and examine the new styles in Men's and Young Men's Clothing and up-to-date Haberdashery

SUITS TO ORDER, $15.00 to $30.00

116-118 EAST BERRY STREET

S. A. Aurentz

兼杏书卷杏杏杏杏杏杏香杏杏杏杏杏杏杏杏杏杏杏杏杏杏杏杏杏杏杏杏杏杏

The High Grade & GROCER Howard Swering in translating "Amandus sum" $^{\prime\prime}$ -lateserve to be loved.

MISS SPERRY-That's right, Howard.

Mr. Lane—The geometry class will take the next twenty lines in the third oration against Catiline.

MCMILLES—Who applauded the speech of the priest? Titrus—Those that weren't there.

Miss Kolb to history class -You can raise down the windows or lower up the blinds.

H. WAGENHALS in literature. In the sixteenth century London had a wall around it to keep out the Boers.

ROYDEN TIGAR (translating German | Hove you dearly, sweetest; you are my atmosphere.

The little Jewelry store around the corner has the largest line of Fine Jewelry in the city. Dallas F. Green, Arcade Jeweler.

Perrey

Leading Photographer

CORNER CALHOUN
AND BERRY STREETS

C. L. OLDS CONTRUCTION C O M P A N Y

SPECIALTIES IN WATER WORKS ELECTRIC LIGHT AND TELEPHONE CONSTRUCTION

GENERAL CONTRACTORS

FORT WAYNE L × D L A × A

Wayne Dry Goods Co.

DRESS GOODS
SPECIALTY HOUSE

FINE DRESS GOODS Ø Ø Ø Ø Ø SILKS AND SATINS Ø Ø Ø Ø TRIMMINGS AND LININGS

Ladies' Fine Readymade Garments, Suits and Cloaks

904 CALHOUN STREET

W. C. Baade

Henrietta Strass (to Mr. Price)—I can't say those big words you want, I have to explain things in my own simple way.

Kinnaird—She said she could get her picture taken at the Fruit House.

LOUISE PELLENS—Make the first a triangular square.

LONGAGE (in Periclean meeting)—I make a move that we report a program on the last Friday before vacation after school takes up. (He gets confused—grows red and sits down mid wild applause).

MISS SPERRY-What's the matter, Mr. Porter?

PORTER—We're scrapping over the principle parts of a verb.

KINNAIRD-She began to sob in a low tone.

MISS TUCKEY—In prose we would have "ad." There's no "ad" here.

LANE-Well, that is odd ("ad ").

DITTOE GROCERY CO.

124 WEST BERRY STREET

AGENT FOR CHASE & SANBORN'S FINE COFFEE AND TEAS

THESE GOODS ARE NOT EXCELLED BY ANY OTHER

FORT HIATNE TRUST COMP AND

Mrs. SPERRY He was thoroughly killed

MISS LITTLE TORK in class-meeting, after by the material vice-president - I decline, Mr. Tigar.

TIGAR Don't worry-I haven't proposed yet.

WILLIAMS giving principal parts of verb -Occasional address occidi-O kiss us cocissus .

Mr. Price analyzing problem, to Hazei Ginty who had been whispering). What shall we do next?

HAZLI GINLY -- Pay attention.

MILDRED MURHEAD "Is "hove" an intransitive verb?

Everything in graduation presents, from a baby rattle to a good watch. Dallas F. Green, Arcade Jeweler.

CAPITAL Sanorona

CORNER MAIN AND COURT STREETS

PAYSINTERESTON CERTIFICATES OR ROOK DEPOSITS

LOANS MONEY AT A LOW RATE OF INTEREST

Edward L. Garrett ...DRUGGIST...

Manufacturer of KOUMISS 33 East Berry Street FORT WAYNE, IND.

DELEPHONE ISS MAIN FINEST CIGARS IN THE CITY National Express Orders Issued to Any Part of the United States.

SPORTSMEN'S EMPORIUM

JOHN TRAUTMAN

Guns. Revolvers. Ammunition Fishing Tackle, Fire Works

Old Normal State of Manual St.

.....Hll the..... New Ideas

That is Mhat Our Stock Presents all the Time * *

Dry Goods, Notions, fancy Goods, Cloaks, Suits, Carpets, Curtains, Draperies, China and Glassware * * * * *

You don't have any cause to worry when buying here, for we sell the best at little prices . . .

The Rurode Dry Goods Company

CONTENTS

Frontispiece	 Picture 	D × of G
Dedication	Class Organization	M C T.
Greeting	Poem	Coterie
Pretace	History.	C. C C
Enauton Staff	Gems of Literature	N C G
Superintendent and School Board	"Athletics "	Senior Dramatic Society
Editorials.	H, S A. A A	Wiscellaneous Clubs
Faculty	High School Records	Navy Blue and Gold at for Commencement.
The High and Jefferson School Buildings	'or Field Day	" Grands."
High School Organization	or Base Ball	Circulating Erbrary
The Past and Present of the High School	Team Picture.	The Wonderful Junior Class
The New High School	Cuach's Letter.	Bureau of Advice
"Classes"	Bowling	Popular Songs of the Day.
oz Picture.	oz Base Ball Team	In Memorium.
Class Organization.	His Father Relented	Notes to Finauton Editors.
History	Swinney Park Gravel Pit	Invitations
Class Roll.	Secret Organizations "	Illustrious Under Class-mates.
'oz Poem	Delta Sigma Nii	Calendar.
oz Prophecy.	Kappa Alpha Phi	A Bird's-eye View
Will	Phi Alpha Psi	High School Mythology
os Picture	Gamma Delta Tau	Final Examinations
Class Organization	Delta Sigma Nu Sisters	The Junior Blast
Poem	Alpha Omega.	The Peace Offering of the Tuscaroras
History	GLCL	The Seven Against Thebes.
64 Picture	"Society."	Hints to Green Arrivals
Class Organization	Periclean Literary Society	lacueline.
Poem	Glee Club	Pecessional.
History	N. L. U. Camping Club.	· Finis '

Dedication:

Greeting:

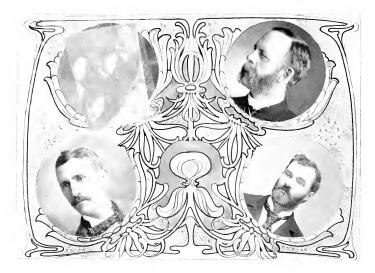

A

TO THE READING PUBLIC OF THE UNITED STATES: We, the editorial staff of the '02 Enjanton, have awaited the day when this book reaches you, with great impatience. We realized that the Enianton was of such absorbing interest, artistic finish, and exalted merit that every minute which it was withheld from you was a flagrant crime for which you would inevitably take tengeance on us. From anxiety on this score all of us had a very narrow escape from brain fever and it is due solely to the lightning speed of the printer who succeeded in getting the book out six months ahead of the usual time that Fort Wavne still has its very brightest people left with the convolutions of their cerebrums as complicated as ever. & Should any thin, longvisaged critic desire to return this inestimably valuable book, he may obtain this privilege by depositing one dollar with the business management. We will be heartily thank ful, we assure him, for his Catonian bluntness and incidentally for his dollar as well. & We desire to thank all who have given us articles or illustrations or have aided us in any way in this work. We now surrender the reader to the tender mercies of the rest of the Entanton provided he has any energy left after reading this "model" preface. E E E E E E E E E E

ENLAUTON STAFF I

Albirt H. Schval,
W. Page Yarnelle, .	Asset.
ELIZABITH M. EVANS,	Vestet
ROYDEN TIGAR,
HERBERT H. WAGENHALS,	Visistantin
Robert M. Freshit,	. Assistant b. Marine i
ROBERT N. KINNMED,	Illustrator, fole
A. GIINN SAWYER,	Assistant Illustrating Editor
Alice H. Foster,	Society Editress
Grace M. Smith,	. Assistant Society Editress
Zona Hopkins,	Literary Editiess
FAVOR VRITI AND,	. Assistant Literary Editress
Arther W. Parry,	Athletic Editor
Assa Biddie,	Calendar Editress
GLORGE FHORWARD,	Grind Editor

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS, [USTIN] N. STUDY,

BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTLES,

ALLEN H. HAMILTON, President. FUGENE B. SMITH, Scoretary.

W. W. ROCKHILL, Treasurer.

MISS GRACE WOODWARD, Librarian and Clerk.

CONRAD LH DOLF, . . . Janitor-in Chief, C. FRED LENKER, . Janitor of High School.

A WORD OF EXPLANATION.

THE editor-in-chief concluded from the characteristics displayed at the staff meetings that should he allow the sub-editors to put much of their work into the Eniauton, it would become so superb that the glory of preceding annuals would be obscured and succeeding classes would drop any further attempt at competition with '02 in despair. As he is a very generous and broad-minded fellow he did not desire this state of affairs. Accordingly his policy has been to put in only as much of their work as was absolutely unavoidable. If anything of merit has nevertheless crept into the covers of this book, the editor-in-chief washes his hands of all blame and trusts that the Juniors will let out their spite on the sub-editors.

It has been our constant endeavor to keep the '02 Eniauton free from all remarks that might hurt the feelings of anyone. We sincerely trust that we have succeeded in this, but if not, we have the consolation that we have faithfully tried.

To judge from the number of misspelled words handed in for publication in the Eniauton, it seems very advisable to add spelling to the regular high school course.

THE SOCIAL SPIRIT AT SCHOOL.

WE believe that this sale of school has been somewhat neglected at our own beloved field of mental battles which end occasionally in victors and usually in defeat—at least, so the teachers make us think. We believe that the years spent in High School are among the happiest years of our lives. Why not render them still more attractive by strong ties of social attractive by strong ties of social fellowship between the students? Of course, numerous fraternities, soronities, etc., exist, but these only wield strong links between the chosen few who make up the membership. We believe that the Periclean Laterary Society has started to introduce some healthy interest and social spirit in the student body and sincerely trust it will continue its good work and that other organizations will follow in its foot-steps.

Further development in this direction will, in our opinion, greatly diminish any "rowdy" tendencies that may be present in the student body, due no doubt merely to the evuberance of their vouthful spirits. The marked improvement in this respect during the present year was due to a considerable extent, we think, to the Periclean, which opened a legitimate channel for the escape of surplus steam.

A new and very pleasing feature of the high school is good singing by its chorus. Probably at no time in the history of the school, has the work done by the student prima-domas, bassos, temors, etc., reached such a high degree of efficiency as it has now. We think that Professor Miles deserves especial recognition for his success in this line, as well as for his kindness in directing the Glee Club.

We hereby desire to express our warmest thanks to those who have furnished us drawings for our book, siz. The Misses Hollensleben, Charlotte Habercorn and Donna Saylor, and Wilham Nutting. We realize that illustrations which are at the same time appropriate and well executed, contribute largely to the success of an annual and wish to have the public know who illustrated our book and that we appreciate their work.

We were highly gratified to learn that Mr. Lane was made president of the classical section of the state at the last convention of Indiana teachers. We know from personal experience that he deserves the honor and wish him a successful administration.

We unequivocally recommend at least a thorough tuning of that venerable ornament of the assembly room commonly called the piano.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE "I ENIAUTON.

YOU are probably surprised that we have adopted a shape, color, and size for our annual different from yours in spite of the suggestion in your book to keep these characteristics uniform. We ought, perhaps, to state a reason for disregarding your suggestion. The reason is merely a difference of opinion as to whether the annual is a high school or class memorial. We hold the latter view and have acted accordingly.

THIS is a question of interest to all high school students and of particular importance to the Juniors. It is the purpose of this article to reveal some facts which may aid them to decide the question wisely.

An Annual is a sort of high school history presenting its material in as interesting and pleasing a way as is possible. An Annual is also a very handsome and appropriate class memorial. This is practically the extent of its uses, unless in addition, it serves to give immortality to all persons whose names appear in its columns.

What does the attainment of these objects cost? The cost of this book in money approximates four hundred and fifty dollars. Two hundred and fifty books are published and thus at one dollar apiece, the proceeds from the book itself would be two hundred and fifty dollars. By herculean efforts, the business managers obtained about two hundred.

dred dollars' worth or advertisements. This amount can probably never be obtained again as merchants are heartily tired of this form of advertising. The fraterinties and societies, of course, pay for their own pictures. From these figures it can be seen that the very best which we can hope for financially is to "come out even." To accomplish even this, requires the sale of every book, a task which grows more difficult every year for obytons reasons.

The financial aspect, however, of the question is not the only one that ought to be considered. To publish a good book requires a surprisingly large amount of time and work. This, together with the numerous money-making events which distract the finals of Semors, assuredly make them very busy mortals and are necessarily detrimental to the work at school. Perhaps if these distractions did not occur there would not be so many Semors on the ragged edge of failure in their very last year. Fo make a long story short, the great financial risk that is rin, the time and labor that are exacted, the difficulty of being original, the lack of novelty in the enterprise, the many disappointments and unexpected obstacles which arise, all together make a formidable combination of reasons against publishing an Annual. We had no presentation of facts like this to guide us in our action, or in all probability this book would not have appeared.

If it is desired to keep a short record of High School events, a cheap, paper bound booklet could be published which would answer the purpose, furnish practically the same experience, exact less time and work, and afford far better chances of financial success.

Should succeeding classes decide not to publish an Annual we sincerely trust that our book makes a worthy "Last of the Emautons."

CHESTER T. LANE, A. B., Principal.

Latin and Geometry.

Graduated from University of Michigan in 1874.

Immediately became Principal of the Ypsilanti, Mich.,

High School.

Accepted his present position in 1874.

fort Mayne high School

MOTTO

* I Harry for alignal comment

Franklik Dandelion. Cotok Light Blue and White

YELLS

 Zokity Bone.
 Hurrar.
 Hurrar.
 Rad., Rav., Herr.!.
 Rav., Rav., Bone!.

 Zokity Bone.
 Hurrarl.
 Rad., Rab., Rab., Rab., Rav., Herr.!.
 Rad., Rab., Rab., Rav., Herr.!.
 Rad., Rab., Rab.,

bul a Lees, and a Lees, and a Lees, Lees, Lone, Go get a rational eigen than a cutotrap. Go get a rational pager than a cutotrap. Boom! Cannibal, Cannibal, Sosbomeah! Fort II arm High School. Rub, Rub, Rub!

Glorana, Francipana, Indiana! Kazwi, Kazah, Ka-vi, Kazah! F-O-R-T - II - I-Y-N - E! - Sio-Biom-.F!

THE PAST AND PRESENT OF THE HIGH SCHOOL

THE following extracts from the recently published report of the principal of the high school will be interesting to our readers: "The Fort Wavne High School was opened in 1802, in the building now occupied by the Jefferson school. On September 5th, 1808, the present high school building was formally deducated with appropriate exercises. The earnest words that were no doubt spoken on that September afternoon have perished save as an impulse given to those who heard them. The "dedicatory hymn," however, survives in the printed program. The words were written by W. T. Adams and are as follows:

"Our country, now to thee, Land of the beave and free, If consecrate This temple's lofty walls, Their fair and spacious balls, That wisdom's unswered calls May keep thee great.

"For thee, our glovino land, May this propal structure stand, And ever be Thy children's guiding light, A tower of windom's might, To bear the hanner bright Abit and free. "Great God, the offering bless; On every heart impress The truth sublime, That wisdom, born of thee, Handmand of liberty, Has been, must ever be, In severy clime.

"Doubtless the phrases, 'loft, walls,' spacrous halls,' and 'proud structure' will amuse those who have for some vears been looking forward to a new home for the high school, but according to the ideals of the time these phrases were a sincere expression by no means hyperbolical."

"The building was at least 's spacious' enough amply to accommodate the school, for the shird floor was equipped as a gymnasum and the first floor was occupied by the training school. The gymnasum was after some year converted into an auditorium and a recitation from for classes in drawing. The training school was abolished in 1880. The mith grade was made a part of the high school and transferred to the high school building in 1880, a change which, deferred too long by at least ten years, so increased the numbers in the school as to make it necessary to convert the third floor into a session room with adjacent recitation rooms for the mith grade. Since that time the entire building has been occupied by the high school, and natural growth compelled the building in 1808 of an addition by which a session room, seating about one hundred students, was added, and also three new recitation rooms. The building is now tived to its utmost capacity and any considerable increase in the enrollment would result in overcrowding.

The report contains a table showing the annual enrollment of the high school from 1879 to 1922 inclusive. The figures of this table show a steady and gratifying increase in attendance especially during the last fifteen years.

"Nothing reveals how greatly the conditions of high school work have changed in the last twenty-five years more clearly than a comparison of programs of study then and now. Then ten-week courses in a great variety of subjects were common, all students were required to take the same subjects and to do the same number of hours work. Failure in two subjects compelled the doing again of all the work of an entire year. To-day, at least a full year's work in any subject that is taken at all is the rule, some freedom is allowed in choice of subjects, no subject satisfactorily completed is required to be repeated because of failure in another subject, the number of hours' work may vary according to the health and ability of the student."

- "Along all these lines our High School has moved towards an enlightened practice as discussion and experience have suggested wise changes. We have no deliviste ten-week courses in any subject. We do not attempt to cover in four years all the subjects in which man may take an enucational interest. We do not assume that all reachers can teach all subverts equally well. We recognize that history and English language and literature are proper subjects of study, and that they require in the instructor wide and accounted knowledge and masterly skill, and that they draw heavily upon the imagination and indgment of the student. We do not therefore set the teacher of history to teach astronomy, and that too with no other apparatus than a string and a blackboard, nor do we assign the work in English as a perfunctor, task to unprepared and unwilling teachers. The work of every teacher lies in a limited field for which he has made special preparation. He is liberally supplied with all the essential means of teaching. Our library is ample for our needs and additions are readily made as occasion requires, our department of history is well supplied with maps conveniently arranged, our botanical, physical, and chemical laboratories are equipped in accordance with modern requirements in science teaching. Our laboratories might be more suitably housed, but defects of situation can be remedied only by a better building, of which we live in hone."
- "The increase since 1845 has been a trille more than firty per cent,, while the increase in the population of the city has been during the same period about twenty-seven and one-half per cent. Throughout the United States the percentage of female students in high schools largely exceeds the percentage of males and has been steadily increasing during the last decade. It is gratifying to see that the number of boxs in our high school has doubled since 1847 and that their percentage has largely increased. Taking an average of the first three veras of the last decade the percentage of boxs is thirts-one and eight tenths, while for the last three veras its nearly forty."

The report also gives a list by classes of the graduates of the high school since 1862, who have entered upon a regular collegiate course.

"This list contains the names of eighty-one graduates who have entered upon a regular collegiate course. The total annular of graduates during the e ten vears is 38°. Of this number twenty-seven and eighty-seven handerlist per cent, have entered college. At least fifteen more have entered es hools of law or medicine and as many more have entered Purdue university or professional schools before graduating from the high school. The report of the United States commissioner of education for 1868–1869, the last report accessible shows that of the total number of graduates from public high schools in the United States in 1867–1868, twenty-seven and forty-sive hundredths per cent, prepared for college and in 1888–1866, twenty-eight and eighty-five hundredths per cent. The figures of the commissioner include all who prepared for college while those given for our school include only those who have entered college. These figures show beyond question that the impulse toward higher education given by our high school training is strong and enduring."

THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL

PROF JUSTIN N. STUDY

THE erection of the new High and Manual Training School building, of which a cut appears in this book, marks an eq. = 0 in the educational progress of the city.

The new building will be a fire-proof structure built of stone and iron, and is intended to accommodate eight humand pupils—but as is the usual custom, will probably have to accommodate many more before any additions will be made to the building.

The basement will contain closets and heating apparatus. In this part of the building will also be the foundry and forge rooms and the moulding room of the manual training department, lunch rooms for boys and girls and room for storing breveles.

On the first floor will be the first year study room, the biological laboratory, the wood working and machine rooms and eleven recitation rooms.

On the second floor will be an auditorium seating 11..., study rooms for the second, third, and fourth year pupils, the principal's offices and recitation room, rooms for a commercial course, the library and two general recitation rooms.

On the third floor will be the gallery to the auditorium, the chemical and physical laboratories and lecture rooms, the physiography rooms, the rooms for mechanical and free hand drawing, cooking and sewing rooms.

Closets and lavatories are located on each floor.

The present high school courses will be continued substantially as they are, but additional courses will be airanged to meet the wants of those who wish the manual training in connection with the high school course of study.

In adding these courses to the public high school work the board of school trustees is bringing the educational policy of Fort Wayne in harmony with the spirit of the times.

For many years, there has been a growing conviction in the minds of thoughtful men that the educational system, while doing much, was not doing all that should be done for the young people entrusted to its care.

The wonderful material development of the country and the inventions and discoveries of the latter part of the nuneteenth century created a demand for a new education. Technological schools spraing pail do weet the land to meet this demand, with an education that should meet the new conditions of life, and fit men to handle and further develop the newly discovered forces.

These schools have exerted a reflex influence upon secondary education and the sentiment has grown that the best education is that which trains all the faculties instead of a part. This sentiment has brought about the introduction of manual training not only into the secondary school, but also into the elementary school. The subject is no longer one admitting argument. It has passed that stage and the only discussion is as to application.

The new high school, in obedience to the demands of the age, will incorporate the manual training idea and offer, in addition to the courses of study now offered, courses of study manual and a year in wood working, a year in foundity work, and a year in machine fitting. Also four years' work in freehand and mechanical drawing. To these will be addded, for girls, work in domestic science. It will not be possible to begin all these at once, as the subjects must be taken up in their logical order and it will therefore be necessary to equip the school, at the beginning, for the first year's work on, in the manual training departs.

ment. It is not the design of a manual training school proper to teach trades as such. The trade school and the manual training school are two distinct conceptions. The one is purely industrial in its aims, the other educational. It is true that the training received from the educational point of view will go far to fit the recipient for any of the leading handicrafts, but that fitting is not the end sought. The development not of the brain alone, but the eve; the hand; the whole man is the aim of the manual training school.

Ohier Wendell Holmes has said: "Book knowledge, lecture knowledge, examination knowledge are in the brain. But work knowledge is not only in the brain, it is in the senses, in the muscles, in the gangha of the sympathetic nerves—all over the man, as one may say as instinct seems diffused through every part of those lower animals that have no distinct organ as a brain."

The manual training school while it does not immediately teach the boy a trade, yet does many things for him which fit him for the practical needs of life, as the ordinary high school does not.

Among these may be mentioned. First—The millification of the idea, which too often exists, that manual tool is degrading, that the object of education is to enable one to gain a hielihood by his was rather than by boddy toil. The boy who has taken his training in a manual training school goes out with a knowledge of the true dignity of labor, such as forever precludes him from the snobbishness of contempt for honest toil.

Second—A course in manual training begets habits of accuracy. Slip-shod school work shows in the finished product, and the product stands as an indisputable witness to the fact that the best has been done. The bad joint allows no excuse, it is a most potent protest against slovenliness in method.

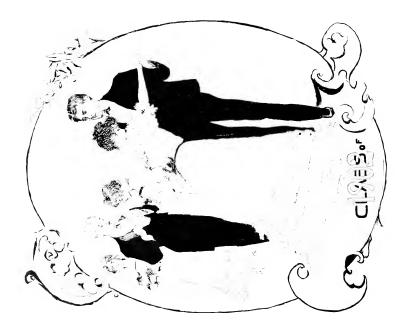

Third—It begets habits of neatness and order, for tools must be kept in order, habits of concentration, for no exercise is continued until it becomes automatic, habits of self-reliance, as his finished product carries in itself evidence of the successful effort.

Fourth—Many to whom the ordinary high school course does not appeal and who, in consequence, abandon school prematurely, will be held by the manual training work until the course of study is completed, giving as it does an opportunity for the evereise of faculties not brought into use in the old course, and hearing, as it does, more directly upon the activities of life.

To bring about the desired result it is important that the department shall be placed under direct charge of one who has been fitted by education and by exercise for the work. Those in charge of classes must also be teachers not mere craftsinen; be able not only to do the things required but also be able to explain the philosoph, underlying the processes. In manual training as in all other educational fields, it is the teacher who makes the school—costly equipment and commodious quarters amount to naught in the absence of the capable teacher. The management of the whole school must be in the hands of one principal, however. No one department can, with due regard to good work, be made independent. This has been tried but so far as I know with unsatisfactory results.

A wise principal entrusted with the general management of the school will leave to heads of departments, details with which he cannot presume, or be expected to be acquainted. Responsibility of management, however, must be centered to attain the best results. The manual training school must be a department of the high school and not an independent school, in order that it may do for the school what we hope it will do, viz: increase the attendance; hold the students, and intensity the interest in high school work.

Senior Organization

MOTTO

"Garpe Drew."

Corcus Navy Blue and Gold. Frontie White Ross

YELLS

| Rui | Rui | G. . . | Rui | R

OFFICERS

ARTHUR W. PARRY,	President	Zona Horking.	Histor 30
Agnes Littlijohn, Vic	· President	AIRT FOSTIR,	Pactess
CLARA OWEN,	Secretary	ALBERT SCHAME,	Prophet
W. Page Yarrier,	Freasurer	Elizabeth Evans.	Sergeant at-Arms

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

I T was in the fall of the year 1848, in the festive month of September, that the guardian of the little ones of the third floor cast her eye over a vast unknown quantity. Perhaps it was larger than any other which had ever sat before her. That unknown quantity was the class of 1922. Some of its are pretty well known now. Then we were freshmen, now we are Seniors. Ah!

Our first year of high school life was like most freshmen years—rather uneventful. We drifted aimlessly with the tide, except when some of our older brothers endeavored to take a hand at the helm. However, the class organization, though hindered by many difficulties, guided us through many of the ills of Freshmen life.

Summer came and went and at its close we entered upon the second year of our course. With a large decrease in our number came a dignity more soutable to our advancing years than the childish traits we had displayed the previous year. Our growing abilities were soon appreciated, for we were allowed to take up geometry at the beginning of the second term. There was enrolled a class for the study of Greek, which was larger than any had been for several years.

Aside from our studies we enjoyed many of the sports of high school life. We went about doing good, as some of the $\zeta \zeta'$ s will agree. We numgled among them querty, organg those who were less staid than we were to mend their ways. Let me assure voin gentle reader, this was done in a very kindly spirit. For some reason, however, our missionary efforts were not appreciated. Field day brought pleasant surprises to all, members of ζz won first, and third honors.

When the old school bell again sent its merry chimes ringing to our ears, enough of us answered its call to make an averaged sized class and give everybody no end of trouble. As the thought occurred to us again and ver again, that in a short time we should be Semors, we purchased our class pins so that we might have a foretaste of that proud, superior feeling which we were soon to assume.

Many of our members witnessed the graduating exercises of the class of 'ot. Truly it was under no favorable auspices that it made its appearance on life's hattleficid. The class sat before us, each member displaying his pleasantest smile, when lot Jupiter harded a score of his thunder bolts towards the earth. The place shook to its very foundations. The heavens flashed with fire. The gods were displeased. As the fury of that awful storm broke over their heads those proud Seniors saw our glorious streamers of gold and blue floating triumphantly before them. Very prudently they acknowledged their defeat. The battle was over. The gods were appeared by their humiliation. Thus is it ever with the proud.

Now, "we are the people ?"

In various ways the general public has become acquainted with us. We rank among our numbers once of the most active and influential members of the Periclean Debating society. Our class is also well represented in the Glee Club and it is a well known fact that the Seniors are the source of whatever harmonious sounds come from the club. The principal cause, however, of our prominence is 55 The Professor's Discovers, which was placed by the senior class. This play established beyond all doubt that our class is the most remarkable that ever crossed the threshold of the high school. What others had not even thought of we carried to a successful conclusion.

Our pleasant high school days will soon be over. Perhaps many will sigh with relief when they have "passed" successfully; but many more will sigh with regret when the last happy days have passed forever. For tell whence we all came on that first day would be a difficult task; where we are going, who of us can tell? Our senior history is in process of construction. We have been laying the foundations, we hope they are firm for this all these long years. Some, at their departure from that kind old school, will be in their building immediately. Others will make the foundations more secure by more very of study.

On the morrow, It's The decad to-morrow
We shall leave these happy scenes,
But farewell to student decames.

MAUD MURRAY.

English-German Course, Coterie,

ARTHUR GLEN

English-Germai Assistant Illustrating Ed-Phi Alpha i

ZONA HOPKINS.

Latin-German Corrollaterary Editress, 1911

TER WAYNE PARRY,

Ca al Course,
Milita Edvo 2 Emanto
Class Presiden 2 Februario
Delt
Basel 15
Football Fear 2
Glee Club a

ROBERT NEWLLI KINNAIRD,

English-German Conise. Illustrating Editor, 1/2 Emauton. Phi/Alpha Psi.

AGNES THOMPSOND THEFTORN.

Lat Ger Corse,

MAE EITER,

Latin-German Course Coterie.

ROYDEN K. P. TIGAR,

Latin-German Course, Business Manager, * 2 Emauton, Phi Alpha Psi, * 1 Football Leam

ELIZABETH MORRIS EVANS.

Classical Contse
Assistant Editor-in-Chief, † 2 Enriano
Class Secretary, [a8] Sea.
Gamma De'ta Tani.

MERA LILLEN FOX.

Latin Course.

Alich P

Society Committees, Vice

ROBERT M. FILSTII.

I nghsh-German Course Associate Business Manager, 1/2 I mart — Periolean I mora — 8 — ety. Glee Club.

EDITH JOSEPHINE FOSTER,

Latin-German Course Coterie.

Marion Baker,

Latin Course.

PLARI EDX | BOXD,

English German Course, Cotem

GLORGIA LOUIST DAVIS,

Latin Course.

ANNA BIDDIE,

Latin German Course Cilendar Editiess 1/2 Emailty

ERMA DOCHLERMANN,

Classical Course, Coterie, BISSII CONNER,

Latin Course,

FAVOR BOWEN VREELAND,

English-German Course.
Class Poetess, [22-21].
Assistant Literary Editress, [22 Enhanton Cotone.

WILLIAM C. SCHADENS

English-German Course.

ALPHEA STOCKBRIDGE.

Classical Course.

GEO. THEODORF THOWWALD,

Latin-Gorman Course, Grind Editor, 12 Emainton, Class Historian, 198-99, 12 - 1 Kappa Alona Phi 13 Baseb, B. Leam, 191-Lean 13 Gram selean 13 Gram Society.

JESSIE LORETTA TUCKEY,

Latin-German Course. Coterie.

ALE: I I

Lar C Editor-in-Chet, Class Section Class Prophet, Periclean Later Gice ve M. GRACE SMILL.

Comman Conse.

V. Editress, 1.2 En actionina. Delta Uan

HERBERT H. WAGENHALS

Classical Course, Assistant Business (Manager † 2) Emantage Phi Alpha Ps.,

CLARA OWLN,

EMIMIA CLARA WARNIS

German Course.

Linglish-German Coarsec-

W. PAGE YARNLILL.

Classical Course.
As stant Editor-in-Chief, [2, 2] Induton
Class Vice President, [68, 567]
Class President, [66, 77]
Class Liedant, [67, 7]
Delta Sigma, Nii.

GEORGIA MAE WARNER,

BERNADELLE MONNAHAN.

Latin-German Course.

ath German Coarso

ARTHUR TWINING.

Linglish-German, Course

'02 Class Poem

The closing days of school have come, Filled with parting's sorrow, Our hearts are full of yesterday, Our thoughts are on tomorrow. The rushing tide of memory

Comes surging as the sea,
While hope fills all our vision
With that which is to be.

The past is all behind us,

With many a failure rife,
The record, as we've made it,

Must stand throughout our life,

We have the open future,

In which we may retrieve
The hours of empty idling
For which, today we grieve.

But trust not in tomorrow,

Today is ours alone,
Then let us "carpe diem,"

And for our past atone.

PROPHECY

I T was a dismal night in November. The wind howled around the house. The window yading tabled in their famines, the trees ground, and large flakes of snow were harring through the arr like a might within adong to attack the fore. All nature was in a turniod.

Within my home, however, all was warm and cost. The hearth was piled high with pile tiggs, and these were succeeding very well in their efforts to warm and brighten the room. Before the hearth we are builtado robe on which I was lying, lardly reading my. Macbeth," My thoughts often strated away treal my task and I was dreamly building many vague, but delightful air-castles. I had come at last to the second witch seeme in the first act, and as this unreal portraval was in harmony with my thoughts, I unconsciously repeated their charm aloud.

"Time to them, and three to more,"

And three again, to make up usue."

I had hardly finished this when, lo, an apparition came in, which I immediately recognized as our old friend Mercury. He did not wait for me to speak, but said in rich, mellow tones

"Father love sent me hither to-night to show you the future of your class-mates. Come."

With these words he handed me a pair of winged sandals, the identical ones, he similingly assured me, which Perseus had worn when he killed Mediusa. The added, with a twinkle in his eve, that he was wearing a pair that was more up-to-date than mine, thus indicating that not only fate is superior to the gods, but also that misterious being called "style."

I put on the sandals and immediately we soared up to dizzy heights and then darted along in a southwesterly direction. After about three minutes as it seemed to me we descended and alighted in front of a large cave in a cast, rocky plain. We entered the cave and my inviserous companion straightway lighted a queer carding my my distributed and the specific plain. We have seen seemed to make the specific plain at the cave with sweet-scented drows finites, and I soon gave way to the spell and tell in a transe.

First I saw myself in a magnificent church just as a marriage ceremony was about to be performed. The bride was coming down the usle and I was very much surprised to recognize Alice Foster. In place of one of the imposing marches of Beethoven or Mozart, the organists Pearl Bond, began to plac just as the bridegroom stepped in "See, the Conquering Hero Cones," and every one admitted that it was a very suitable selection. The choir, whose leader was Robert Feistel, rendered a very beautiful song and I clearly distinguished the sweet onces of Mag Enter and Georgia Warner. The officiating elegisma was the Rev. H. H. Wagenhals, D. D. The church was tastefully trimmed by the leading florist of the city, Bessie Conner. Above the altar hung a very beautiful picture, painted in the art studio of Agnes Lattlejohn.

After the ceremony had been performed I left the church and walked along leisurely. I had hardly gotten over my surprise at seeing a sign .

"MISS ERMA DOCHTERMANN-DANCING SCHOOL,"

when I heard a bond explosion in a residence near by. I hurried toward it and trished in. Alas, a sad sight greeted in eves. Glenn Sawyer, who had become a famous chemist, had performed one of his many complicated experiments and had blown himself up. Dr. Grosjean was hurriedly summoned, and he came as fast as he could with a professional nurse, Grace Smith, but the only thing he could do was to turn over the remains the could with a professional nurse, Grace Smith, but the only thing he could do was to turn over the remains on undertaken, Arthur Fwining. In the meantime the fire department had dashed up with Page Yarnelle, the fire chief, at their head. He was full of energy and zeal in extinguishing the flames due to the explosion—far different it must be admitted, from his appearance a few hours later when I saw him growing pale under the hands of Miss Elizabeth Evans, the most progressive dentist in town.

My nerves were so upset by Glean's said end that I entered a theatre near by to see a comedy. I was anazed to learn from the programme that the manager of the company was Arthur Parry, and that his chief actress was Jessei Tuckey. Of course the play was very good. William Schalen rendered the principle special-ties with his characteristic grace and himor. I was somewhat surprised to see Roy Tigar in the audience because in his official capacity, as governor of his state he was having a hard time just then in Keeping Favor Viceland, who had become a lecturer on 'Womani's Rights,'' from commenting the state legislature with that fruitful subject.

Then the scene was changed and I found invself at one of the ward schools. I was immediately struck by the arristic hearity and regularity of the binding and was pleased to learn that Maud Murray had been the architect that designed it. I asked for the principal, who as I learned from a schedule in the school was no one 611 else than Georgia Davis. I was told that she was in the seventh grade room. Accordingly I went there. When I got near the room I distinguished the principal's voice coming through the open door. She was just gring the children a letture—on good behavior, and I heard the words.

"Now when I went to school we never thought of whispering or writing notes."

I did not wait for more, but rapped at the door and received a hearty, welcome. From her I learned considerable about other members of the class. Emma Warner stood at the head of the kindergaria in the same school. Clara Owen was head stenegrapher and bookkeeper in a large wholesale house near by. Edith Foster had become a successful music teacher. This did not surprise me as she was always so remarkable for hearteningly angle patience. I was a stoushed, however, at George Thorward's fate. He had devoted himself to politics and had been rewarded for his faithfulness by the position of cits poindinaster, which he was still holding. Should have thought that George would ever go to the doop? Marion Baker had distinguished herself becoming the most fashionable dressmaker of the city and then marring a wealthy bachelor, thus driving all the society girls half frantic with anger and regret. Bernadette Monnahan had already won fame as an active worker in the slums of New York.

Suddenly the scene was changed again. I found misself in China listening to the carnest and eloquent address of a missionary in whom I recognized Zona Hopkins. She was assisted very ably in her work by the singing exangelist, Anna Hiddle.

I reflected a few moments and then realized that I had viewed all the members of the glorious old class or 7 everept our good-natured class coinciding. Robert Kimardi. I had hardly thought of him when I toroid misself at the Climese court. I easily recognized the king by his crown and haughty bearing, but who was that person vonder adorned with cap and bells. I could hardly believe my eves, but if they did not deceive me, it we the long lost Robert Kimardi. I learned later that this was really the case and bound out in explanation that Robert had visited the Chinese king during his travels and so delighted his matesix by his humor that the king offered him an annual salary of ten thousand dollars for becoming the court jester and the bargain was struck.

I had scareely heard the end of this strange tale when there was a sudden crash and I found invselt 'ang on the rig at home. Irrable distriction relatives claim that I was snoring away during the whole evening at a very lively clip.

CLASS PROPRIEL.

Will of Class of '02

We, the members of the 'o2 Class of the high school in Fort Wayne, Allen county, Indiana, U. S. A., being aware of the fleetness of life, though gifted with exceptionally arid brains, as our teachers took great pains to impress upon us, do hereby file the following will and testament:

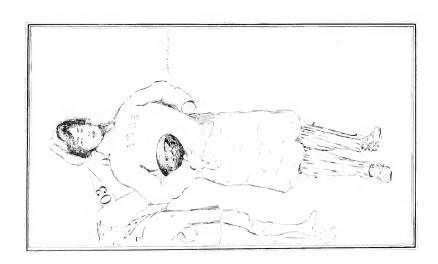

- 1. We bequeath to our venerated and highly esteemed instructors:
- (a) The credit of our reputation as brilliant scholars, and as persons well equipped by our freedom from loafing about the corners, promenading, soothing the neighbors of the school by our melodious yells, etc., for citizenship in this up-to-date city of Fort Wayne.
- (b) The pleasure of reassuming the discipline of the school of which we relieved them so nobly by the praiseworthy example we set for the other classes.
 - (c) The pleasant task of "firing" people out of the library.
 - II We bequeath to our colleagues of tender years, commonly called Freshmen:
 - (a) Our ability to climb stairs.
 - (b) Our well known powers of endurance against heat in summer and cold in winter.
- (c) Our lack of childish desires to play with microscopes and other botanical apparatus; also our knack for visiting Aurentz's during school hours.
 - III. We give to the Sophomores of little fame and less merit:
 - (a) The sweet smiles, solicitous care and kind talks of Mr. Lane.

Will of Class of 'oz Continued

- (b) The right so fondly desired, to occupy front seats when they study in the principal's room.
 - (c) Our well known ability in geometry and all the Vs connected with it.
 - (d) Mr. Crowe's boyish playfulness.
 - IV. We present to our beloved brothers and sisters, the Juniors:
 - (a) Our rear seats.
 - (b) Our good behavior.
 - (c) Our aptitude for obtaining front seats.
 - (d) Our privilege of supervising the book case.
 - (e) Our total immunity from the bench, "flunks," lectures, etc.
- (f) The cherished privilege of the solid geometry class of remaining after school three evenings every week in order that each proposition may be recited on three times.
 - (g) Our senior dignity and exalted position as rulers of the school democracy.
 - (h) Our ability to make money for class expenses.
- (i) Our talent for "breakage" in the chemical laboratory and the long faces we shall make when the bill is presented.

Duly attested before us as notaries public this 31st day of February, 1902.

THE CLASS OFFICERS.

Class Organization

MOTFO

" In Is a great of Knowledge Par Best Interest."

COFOR Dark Blue and White. FIGAER Pink Rose

YELL

Be mahaa' Bemahaa'
Rah' Rah' Rah'
Chingahaa' Chingahaa'
Chac' Chac' Chac'
Bemahaa' Chingahaa'
R' Rah' Re'
Feet Hayn High 8.1.81'
Ninten Him

PAUL PRESION,	President	CHARLES FILLS, = = = =	Treasure
Elinor Bond Vice	President	JESSAMINE BAILLY,	Historian
Geyrky Knight,	Secretary	EDWARD LUKING	. Post

'03 Poem

While going toward school one day, Two Juniors met upon the way, "The boxs," said one, "have something new, Meet us tonight at the rendezvoirs."

> 'Twas twelve o'clock and the boys had met, At the time and place that had been set. The leader arose to address his band, The words he spoke were fiery and grand.

> > 9For the glory and fame of mineteen three, We must raise this banner fair," said he. He pointed to a banner of dark blue and white, Aind cheers that awoke the slumbering might.

> > > From out of the band he appointed two, Fo raise the emblem good and true. Through the school these two went in the blackness of night, Until on the cupola they came into sight.

The flag was raised 'midst a thunderous cheer, And there in the moonlight calm and clear, High in the air you could see 'The glorious banner of inneteen three.

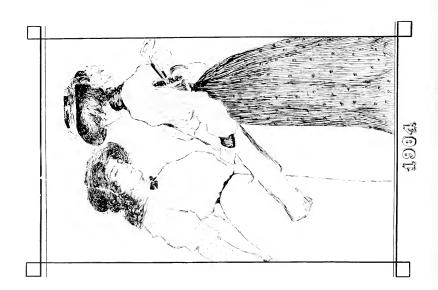

> But when the boys went to school in the morn, They found that some rude hand had torn, The flag from its rightful place on high And cries of vengeance arose to the sky.

> > They found that the flag had been taken down By our jaintor bold of great renown, And so every Junior swore by his soul That next time he raised a flag he'd grease the pole.

The Class of 1933 started on its high school career fully determined to make a name for itself that would be handed down in history as the name of the most enterprising class on the high school records. In order to establish ourselves as a class, a meeting was held and we were formally organized. Officers were elected, colors chosen and the motto "An Investment in Knowledge Pays Best Interest" was adopted. We then proceeded to put our motto into practice by devoting ourselves to our books. For a time this occupied all our attention.

The second year found us still devoting ourselves to acquiring knowledge, but with an added dignity, as we felt the importance of being Sophomores. Few class meetings were held and aside from making a name for ourselves in the class room we attempted nothing else. So our talents lay dormant for a time and it was not until we had entered upon our Junior year that our importance was telt in every branch of the school. In athletes 1952 is well represented both on the foot ball team and in field day sports We have a number of oratorical stars who often bring honor to their class by their eloquence. Then too, the glee club is well supported by member ... 1903. The customary Junior dance was given about the middle of the year. It was our first undertaking of any importance, but was a brillian' access in every way and may be taken as prophetic of the success that will attend all the efforts of the class.

Although our numbers have decreased somewhat, the enthusiasm has not waned, and we are steadily pressing on to fill the place of Semors in a way that will bring credit to ourselves and honor to our school.

Class of '04

Colors flowers

Red and White. Red and White Carnations,

Motto

A Good Education is a Better Safeguard of Liberty Than a Standing Army.

Class Yell

Halla Belooh! Balah! Beloer! Halla Kazack! Kazoo! Kazoer! Rip Roar! Rip Roar! Fort Wayne High School Nineteen Four

Officers

RAIPH WILLSON, President Gerenous Brook, Sectedary
Louis Prierry, Vice President Brook, Treasurer
Estima Generius, Poetess Miss Position, Miles Position, Mile

'04 Class Poem

When the brilliant class of naughty four Had left the grade school's open door. The teachers were dissolved in tears Fo think of the many happy years We'd spent with them.

The worst of trials a Freshman bears Are Sophomores', Juniors' and Semors' airs. It is so long since they were green— Such ups and downs of life they've seen; And are so wise.

> We struggle with history, Latin and Greek; We learn our mother tongue to speak; We juggle with letters, figures and signs, We draw from life, make Japanese lines jumors to be.

We came to the high school, grand and old, Past rows of high school heroes bold, Who undertook to rush us in; This caused uproar and awful din And Schultze's wrath.

That year ended as all years will,
And we the role of "Sophs" do fill.
We sit on the bench and think of our sins—
The notes, the whispers, the giggles and grins
For which we sigh.

When at the end of two short years
We Seniors are, without comperes,
The town with jov will celebrate
The happy night we graduate
From the "new high school."

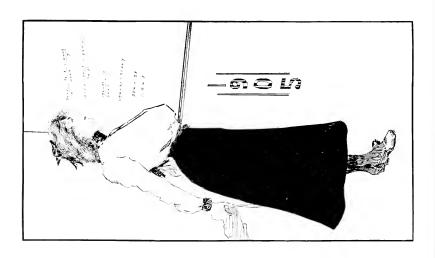

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF COA

September, 19,24, say, the advent of the wonderful Class of 1974 into the Fort Warne High School. It displayed its progressive character by organizing soon after the taking up of school. Competent officers were elected and committees appointed. Thus was this class laminhed upon the sea of high school life. The officers of the first year were succeeded by other officers instas competent, and there are plenty left to draw from . The Class of 1974 does not wish to gain prominence by giving brilliant 2 social functions a some of its predecessors have attempted to do, but by hard work and perseverence. The class has its good times, however, as at the sleighing party to Swift's farm.

The colors chosen by the class were red and white. The red sembolizes the class' power to "fight" if necessary, while, on the other hand, the white signifies its willingness to maintain peace.

Fhe class motto is very appropriate. It is 50 X Good Editoration is a Better Safeguard of Liberty Than a Standing Army," If this is time and it is the members of 10.4 will assuredly be valiant protectors of libert. However shy and apparently insignificant 10.4 may have been in the past she will mentally become great in the future. Therefore look out?

Historias, 1973

Class of 1905

Motto

Not Failure, But Low Aim is Crime

Colors

All Gold and Scarlet.

Red Rose

Yell

Pin' Pin' Sis' Bum' Bah' =5' \gamma5' Rah' Rah' Rah'

Organization

President Mai Filzpatirick Vice President Histor Bash Secretary Katheriai Walios Treasurer Floriax Mission

Poet Eurius Haidwins

Historian David McNachus

No.11 This notable class has an organization that is the envior the whole school. The president and we e-president are at present members of the Sophomore class and the Instorian has departed from the high school. Like sheep without a shepheral the Freshmen wander about, detectedly placing their hopes in the future.

Class of '05

In the leading high school of the state There's a Freshman class that is up to date. It would take at least a year and a day To tell you of all in this class so gay. And there are so many, both large and small, That I really can't remember them all, It is the greatest class without a doubt, That any one ever heard about, There're some in the class who really believe That in Nineteen Five the school they'll leave. But I'm quite sure that most of them Will graduate in Nineteen Ten. 'Tis composed of sages, august and wise, I really think they'd take the prize In any side show, menagerie or zoo. You needn't believe it, but then it's true. You would suppose that a class of such sensible students In selecting a poet would have shown more prudence. But then brace up, for the end is near, My term expires at the end of the year. Clan Post-12.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 105

As all readers of the Emanton know, many classes have crossed the threshold of the Fort Wayne High school and have climbed the winding stars that lead to the holbest room in the building.

Fhe Class of 1955, commonly known as the "freshman" class, followed this precedent September 9th, 1941. This class is the first that ever organized in the second week of its high school career. At the first meeting, held September 25, 1941, officers were elected and the motto, "Not Failure, But Low Yom's Crime," was adopted. All gold and searlet were chosen as class colors and the red tose as class flower.

In athletics our class was represented by a number of the young men who placed foot ball on the "Syarsity." Many of the class, furthermore, are taking an active share in the "Periclean Debating society." The young ladies of the class take an active part in everything they can to help the class along. I am proud to saw war en high whool for something.

We hope that in June, 10°5, we shall all look hack promills on our past years and see that we got something out of our light school work. Lain confident that we all shall reach the top of the ladder it only we try. We have a great many steps to climb, but only energy and porsesverance are required. Come, let us push our way upward. Surely we can all reach the top and tie the old gold hanner to the highest step where all who see it can used these lines on it in saidlet letters. So Yo I admite, but I ow Aums & Cime."

Gems of Literature

A PSALM OF SCHOOL

Win was, a . . Logo . .

Fell me not in mournful numbers, "School is but an empty dream."

School is real! School is earnest! And the bench is not its aim.

Oh' what's this world a coming to, Can anybody tell, When to the wrong of mixing things Young laddes go pell-mell? For sports and pleasures, in the past, The time was made quite clear, But now Sinclar goes "Nutting" All seasons of the year.

The rain falls on the just And also on the unjust fellows; But more upon the just because The unjust have the justs' umbrellas

- Mamie had a little lad,
 A plumber's son was he,
 And everywhere that Mamie went,
 That lad was sure to be.
- He walked with her to school each day And also fro' as well;
 And every look he cast on her Meant more than tongue can tell.
- 3. What makes the lad love Mamie so? Come, tell me if you can. 'Cause Mamie loves the lad, you know, For he's a little man.
- "Take back the heart that you gave me,"
 The angry maden cried.
 So the butcher gave her liver and
 The maid was satisfied.

Georgia D If you can B A minute quiet, Please go try it

Reflections of a Freshman

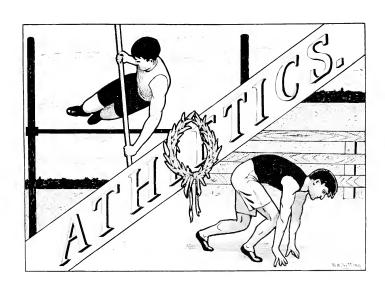

A little hoy sat on the bench, He felt like talking French. He said to himself, "O sad day, What a cruel woman is this Miss Jay."

But when he got back to his seat The thoughts in his mind were calm and sweet.

He said to himself, "O happy day, What a most excellent woman is this Miss Jay."

Did you ever notice this,
When a fellow takes a kiss
From a righteous little maiden, calm and meek,
How her bible training shows,
But in simply turning round the other cheek?

Of all the books of the present age To Elizabeth there's just one "Page."

fort Mayne Digh School Amateur Athletic Association

Officers

A. B. CROWF, President WM. L. McMILLAN, Vice-President J. A. PRICE, Secretary and Treasurer

football Department

Arthur W. Parry, Manager Harry McCormick, Manager-Elect Frank Hamilton, Captain Edgar Fleming, Captain-Elect

Base Ball Department

Hugh Smaltz, Manager Arthur W. Parry, Manager-Elect Herbert Erickson, Captain Herbert Erickson, Captain-Elect

Property Committee

George Thorward, '22 Indward Lukens, '03 Sam Morris, '04

Committee on Granting Letters

Mr. Lane Mr. Brown, Coach
Frank Hamilton, Captain of Football Team Arthur W. Parry, Manager of Football Team
Herbert Frickson, Captain of Base Ball Team

Records of f. a. b. S. Hthletic Association

IMINI				5.1.5		S VM1
50-yard Dash		512	sec	*q=		Willson
roo-yard Dash .		101.	44			Willson
22:-vard Dash		24 3-5		198	his is	Stonecifei	_ 'qt
440-yard Dash
One mile Run 5 i
Half mile Run 2	4.4	2.2				Art Schultz .
Quarter mile Walk			٠	'g		Crim	· 'q=
125-yard Hurdle		19	٠			. Preston
Potato Race
Obstacle Race
One mile Bicycle Race 2 i	nın.,
Two-mile Bicycle Race, lap						Dawson
Three-legged Race, etc. vds		1.4				Husten and A
Half mile Relay Race 1		26)	6.6	'9'		Team of	144
	410	LVNCL		11.1	.R	NAME	0.1.355
Running High Jump	5 ft.	, ;				Preston
Running Hop, Step, Jump	38 11	1.1	6.6		ı	Miller	1 2
Standing Hop, Step, Jump	2- "	2.1		19		Stonecifei .	1.1
				*q-		O1ff
Standing Broad Jump	9 4	1				Diether	. '1
Throwing Hammer, 16-lb	15 	8		. 'q	5	John Bass, it	. 198
Putting Shot, 12-lb.	34					. John Bass, ir
Throwing Base Ball 3	1, "	6	44	. '9	5	.Orff	14-
Throwing Football	5 "	-		'9	5	D. McDonal	d '45
Pole Vault	8	21.	4.4			George Dick

fort Mayne high School Amateur Athletic Association

Seventh Hnnual field Day

Driving Park friday, May 318t

1001

Executive Committee

HAMILTON, 'or ALDERMAN, 'or Event Committee

PARRY, '02

74 Drize Committee

BEERS, '03

MOELLERING, '04

PROF. PRICE, REFEREE NEIL SMITH, STARTER PROF. CROWE, SCORER

CLARENCE SMITH, Timer

TIGAR, 02

McCORMICK, '03

CROWE, McMILLAN AND PRICE, JUDGES

HOPKINS, 'or

PORTER, '04

PROF. McMILLAN, CLERK OF COURSE

Events of the 'or field Day

First Nathan Second—Nutting Third—Erickson Γime—h ¹ , seconds	First Miller Second—Preston Thad Wehnert Distance =1 feet
RUNNING HOP, STEP AND JUMP	* NE HUNDRED YARD DOT
First Miller Second—Preston Fhird—Bash Distance 38 feet, 11 inches	First- Nathan Second Erickson Third - Sharp Lime 11 seconds
RUNNING HIGH JUMP	PASE BALL THROW
First Preston Second—Woodworth Phild Miller Height 5 feet, 3 mches	First Erickson Second Coppock Third Bash Distance 3/1 feet, 8 inches
ONE MILE BRYCLE RACE	TWO HUNDRED AND TWENTY YARD DATE
First -Scheid Second Coppock Third -Nathan Time 3 minutes, 24 seconds	First Nathan Second -Linckson Third Nutting Time 24 , seconds
SR01 - PU1	OURTHR MILL RECEEL RACE
First—Miller Second Bash Third Coppork Distance 32 feet, 2 inches	First Smith Second Schead Third Coppe κ Time not caught
FOUR HUNDRED AND FORTY YARD DAYH	POLE VALLE
First -Erickson Second Thorward Third Wehnert Time 59 seconds	First Miller Second Woodworth Uhrid Presi- Height = feet, 1 inch
RUNNING BROAD JUMP First Nathan Second Miller Phird Preston Distance 16 feet, 91 inches	ONL HENDRED AND TWENTY YARD HENDEL RACE First Preston Second Woodwerth Time—to seconds

HALL MILL RUN

First Thorward Second Wehnert Third Twining Time 2 minutes, 3 % seconds

'or Baseball Season

Manager - HUGH SMALTZ, 'OL. Captain-Herbert Erickson, 104. Catcher-McCorvick, '03. Pitchers-Erickson, '54. First Base-Hopkins, 'or. HOPKINS, 'OL. ERICKSON, '04. HEIT, '03. Second Base-O1Ds, '02. Third Base-GALTJE, 'OI. Short Stop-Parry, '02. Left Field-HEIF, 'cg. Center Field-THORWARD, '02. Right Field-Woodworth, '03. ERICKSON, '04. BURGER, 'OL. SCHULIZ, '04. THORWARD, '02. SCHULTZ, '04. NUFF, '04.

SCHEDULE

April 27.	Buffaloes, at Fort Wayne.	F.	W.	H. S.,	20;	Buffalos, 3.
May 4.	Laboratory Team of Electric Works.	F.	W.	H. S.,	19;	Electric Works, 5.
May 11.	Bass Foundry Team, at Fort Wayne.	F.	W.	H. S.,	15;	Bass Foundry, 14.
May 18.	Electric Light Works, at Fort Wayne.	F.	W.	H. S.,	4;	Elec. Light, 12.
May 25.	Huntington High School, at Fort Wayne.	F.	W.	H. S.,	12;	H. H. S. 5.
June 1.	Huntington High School, at Huntington.	F.	W.	H. S.,	5;	H. H. S. 12.
June 8.	Huntington Business College, at Huntington.	F.	W.	H. S.,	7;	Н. В. С., 10.

CONCERNING HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS

If was in the eighties of the last century that the solleges of Indiana got to planing to obtail together. Produce, there had been a few inter-collegiate games of baseball before (t88), but the modern idea of scheduled games of ano kind was yet unborn.

The next decade, however, saw a great change in the matter of arbitras, and football and baseball games and field meets between the larger colleges became very common. The boxs of the high's hools beheld and admired theoforms of sport and early in the innerties followed the lead of the college men and our inter-scholastic games began.

The Fort Waxne High School was not at all slow in the new movement. In 1864 the first toofball team was organized and within a year or two commenced playing out-of-town games. In 1864 the present Athleta Association came into existence and the same year our first field Day was held. Former annuals have given rather exhaustic the history of our ups and downs in football and other sports, and the object of this brief article is to discuss possible method of improving the condition of athletis is not restood.

It must be remembered that the terms. Whelence and Physical Culture are not at all symmetosmous. The latter implies systematic regular training of all the muscles of the body by long continued and well chosen exercises. To be of value such work should be under the control and direction of an expert capable of determining just what work should be done by each individual, and then of directing that work. No one can doubt that such training is most valuable and that it should go hand in hand with the mental gynmastics of the exh dedocord. It is succeed hoped by the students and teachers abke that our School Board will make provision for similable rooms and an instructor at the time we go into the new bindling, and that this much neglected but valuable side of education shall therefore severe due attention. Such physical training should be compulsory for all of average health and strength and it so, would benefit over muti-five per cent, of all attending school. Athletic sports on the contrary affect only, about ten per cent of the boxy, and, of course, give no physical benefit at all to the gibts.

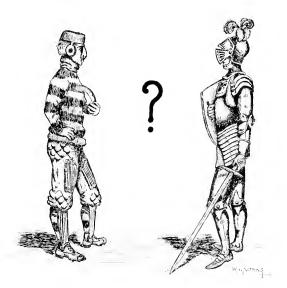

The wisdom of holding Athletic games is an open question. Many persons who have seriously studied the matter greatly regret that interscholastic meets were ever imagurated. It must be concided that there is some physical risk in foodball, both from accident and over-evertion, and there is always great danger that athletics will give distracting to students and so lower scholarship. On the other hand there is a public demand for athletic sports, and our shools do play football and baseball, and, in all probability, will continue to do so. This being true, it is so extended one is the traffiction matters drift, and very careful thought should be given to methods or regulation that when minimize the objectionable and develop the destrable features of the present system. With this end in view our Arthetic Association should consider plans for bettering evisting conditions, and then with the help of the school management events such reforms as are decided upon. The following suggestions are made for consideration:

I. To define under what conditions students shall be eligible to play on our own teams. This is the most important matter to be decided and the following points are pertinent to its discussion: (a). Students having any physical weakness are label to serious injury; therefore one requisite to "getting on" a team Stude be a certificate of good physical condition from an appointed physician. (b) No student should be allowed to play in any games without the consent of his parents or guardians. A written permission from his legal guardian should be required. (c) None but regular students taking a smuch as twelve hours weekly of regular school work should be eligible to enter contests. Such a provision would prevent triflers from taking a "course" in Athletics with some school subject on the side. (d). None but successful and orderly students should be on our teams. Endure in any one subject of low grades in two or more subjects, or habitual had behavior in school, should debra a student from participation in any game. By this provision only, can athletics become a help instead of a stumbling block to scholarship and good government in the school. (c) Professionalism is fatal to the spirit and dignity of school athletics. No person who has received partner of partner of the provision of the student from a school event.

While to some these restrictions to eligibility may at first thought seem rather severe, it is believed that a little reflection will consider any reasonable person of the wisdom of each point made. Scores of schools have taken as advanced a standing on this subject as the one here indicated and the results in such places have been gratifying in the extreme.

H. To determine what qualifications shall be required in opposing teams. While we can not presume to dictate to other schools what their rules on eligibility shall be we can moterially help to raise their standard by refusing to enter into contrests with them unless we are guaranteed that their teams are composed of bone pide students and absolutely free from professional players. It is true that we have said in the past that we would only play against students taking regular courses. But unfortionately, we have never had the high moral courage to support our own proposition unflinchingly and have repeatedly played against dishonestly constituted teams rather than "spoil the gaine" and "disappoint the crowd" at the last moment. Of course there can be no further trouble on this score when once we shall have gained the reputation of meaning just what we say.

HI. To use every means of leading other schools to adopt similar standards of eligibility. An agreement between the schools of northern Indiana on this subject would be an excellent thing and probably could be easily brought about.

Varsity football Team---Scason '01

ARTHUR W. PARRY, Manager.

 Навку МсСокміск, Сарtain.
 Frank Hamilton, Captain.

 Разо Регутов, Сарtain.
 Некмам Вкомъ, Соасh.

· Were injured and forced to resign before the season was over.

r Back-Parry, 5'02135 lbs.
nt Half—Dunten, 3 03140 lbs.
Olds, 1'02. 140 lbs.
Nutting, 1 '03 .135 lbs.
ft Half-Preston, 4 '53140 lbs.
R. Lopshire, 1 '05150 lbs.
ll Back—Wilt, 3 '05 160 lbs.
C. Lopshire, 1 '55165 lbs.
Hamilton, 1 '01140 lbs.

Substitutes for football Ccam

Thorward, 12. Sterling, 15. Beers, 13. Twining, 12.

EDITION'S NOTE.— The small figures directly after the names of the players tell the number of games each played in the position his name is in.

Schedule for Season of 'or

September 28 - Fort Wayne Business College, at Fort Wayne. Fort Wayne High School, 17; Fort Wayne Business College, c.

October 5-Fort Wayne Tigers, at Fort Wayne. Fort Wayne High School, 7; Fort Wayne Tigers, 0.

October 12—Lagrange High School, at Fort Wayne.

October 19-Huntington High School, at Huntington. Fort Wavne High School, 0; Huntington High School, 27.

October 26 Wabash High School, at Fort Wayne. Fort Wayne High School, 5; Wabash High School, 17.

November 2 - Lagrange High School, at Lagrange. Fort Wayne High School, 0; Lagrange High School, 34.

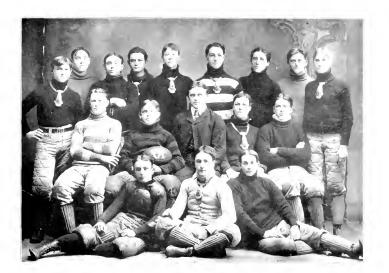

November 4—Goshen High School, at Goshen.

November 16- Wabash High School, at Wabash.

November 23 - Huntington High School, at Fort Wavne. Fort Wavne High School, 5; Huntington High School, 6.

This game was canceled because of rain.

(With seven regular players out of the game, it was deemed advisable to cancel these games.

COACH'S LETTER

A THLETIC sports have been a principal sourse of amusement for many centuries past. They seem to have originated with the Greeks, among whom physical development reached a high state of perfection. Not until the last century was an athletic contest looked upon in any other manner than as a profession. The amateur never engaged in amy public contest in Athletics.

Anateur Athletics had their birth at the beginning of the last centur; in the prominent colleges and schools of England. Their principal games were football and cricket—their field meets were similar to ours of to-day. It is to England that we are indebted for our most fascinating of all games—the best of all games—football. While it is not likely that the game originated there, nevertheless it was from the English that we learned it.

Football was originally played with seventeen men, then the number was reduced to fifteen; and since the game has been popular here, it has been reduced to our present number of eleven men. Football was first introduced into this continent in Canada, and from our sister country on the North the sport was introduced into the Yale University.

But what concerns us most is our local Athletics—and many, many times has the question been asked, "Why didn't our boys win more games last fall?" And now we have the opportunity of telling you—let me say that the defeats met were not the fault of the team alone but the fault of yourself as well. We may assign as the principal reasons. The lack of support, both financially and as to the good will of the student body as a whole; the lack of hearty interest and support of the faculty and parents, and competing with teams composed of older, larger and more experienced players. We shall treat the reasons given in their reverse order.

It must be remembered that the members of this year's team were all new and almost without exception mesperienced in the game; that they had an unusually hard schedule to fill; and that the teams they met last fall in every instance were more advanced in age, and were from ten to twenty pounds heavier, man for man, than the boxs of our team. Then, too, the boys of our school graduate at a much earlier age than those of the surrounding towns. Many of the boys in the neighboring schools do not push through and complete the prescribed course of study in the allotted four years as the box here do. Alain of their number are farmer to is who cannot start at the opening of school or continue until its close; therefore more years are required to complete the course of study. Consequently many of the boxs are twenty or twenty-one years of age before graduating—yet they have been playing football since entering High School—in some instances long enough to bar them from the team were they in college. Athletics.

Another thing we find that aids and encourages the teams of our smaller cities and towns is that the faculty to an individual is in hearty co-operation with the team. One victory is much easier won than two, and the team that undertakes to wrest victory from their opponents – knowing that later they will have to appeare the wrath of their faculty and parents – are encountering a hard proposition. War was never carried on successfully with an enemy in the camp.

The next and perhaps the most discouraging thing of all to the team was the lack of support from the student bods. Why shouldn't you be as proud of your team as Harvard, Yale and Princeton are proud of their teams? Why wouldn't a victory for your team be a victory for you as much as a Harvard victory for the Harvard student? And why are these teams so successful in their games? Because they have the entire support of the universities behind them.

True, every one can't secure a place on the team—but you can help win the game by being present. Fill the side lines and bleachers—but keep back of the ropess, take your pennants and horns, for nothing inspires one to do his yers best more than to know his friends are present to rejoice in his victory and to mourn at his defeat—especially if his friends are lady friends.

The team to a man is to be complimented for their pluck and the manner in which they conducted themselves in last season's games. When it seemed that nothing short of a miracle could bring victors for Fort Wayne, courage was not lost but each man sailed into the fray with a grini determination to do or die. And the team, as a whole, are to be praised for their hard and consistent work. Every man who plaved on the team is better physically and mentally for his experience. Personally, I have never met a more manly or honest squad of buys on or off the gridfron. Each one has proven himself to be a gentleman and the memory of last fall's experience with the team will always be to me a source of great pleasure.

Yours tridly.

H. W. Brows.

Bowling

PROF	ESSOF	CS 7	TEA?	\I		STUDENT'S FEAM
C. T. Lane					2 ° 8			H.	Ginty					232
A. B. Crowe					212			Н.	Cook					241
Wm. L. McM	illen				2.21			F.	Cook					201
B. C. VonKah	lden				215			R.	Lopshire					237
J. A. Price					212			F.	Wilt					21.1

For the first time in the listory of Annual publications, bowling, a sport that evemplifies all that is virtuous in an exercise, takes its place in the list of high school arbitrues. Hitherto athletic editors have not deemed it worth of being mentioned in their columns. Now, however, so much bowling is done by high school people that it deserves recognition.

There are at present two teams in the high school. One is composed of professors, the other of students. Their individual records are very good, their team work excellent. The professors have lost but one of their contest games, while the students have won fifty per cent, of theirs. In all of these games, their opponents were bowlers such that victors was always an achievement, defeat never a disgrace.

Besides its organized bowlers, there are many individuals who bid fair to become excellent rollers. That bowling as a high school sport has a great future before it, is evident when we consider that a great number of school arbitres are interested in it, that two strong teams are now recognized arbitree organizations of the high school, and that it has the hearty support of the facility.

Letters have been awarded to the following athletes for superior merit in athletic contests.

TRACK	ATHLETICS	BASE	B.VI.1.	FOOTBALL.
		McCormick, `⊕3.	Hopkins, 'et.	Figar, '02. C. Lopshire, '05. Fleming, '03.
Preston, 113.	Erickson, 7-5.	Olds, '02.	Parry, 'a2.	McCormick, '03. Nutting, '03.
		Gaetje, 'or.	Erickson, 'c5.	Hamilton, '03. A. Olds, '02. Dunten, 03.
Nathan, *- 3.	Miller, '~ 2.	Thorwa	ird, `:2.	Parry, '52. Preston, '03. Thorward, '52.

~2 BASEBALL TEAM

PTICHER—Lopdure, 54; Preston, 53. CATCHER—Leach, 54. FIRST BAST—Lopdure, 55; Parrs, 52. SECOND BAST—McCormick, 53.

THEO BAST—Sterling, 55. SHORE STOP—Thorward, 52. LEFT FIELD—Preston, 53. CLECTE FIELD—Tennant, 55.

REGAL FIELD—OPENING, 52.

May 3, 1972—Fort Wayne High School vs. Huntington High School. Fort Wayne High School, 13, Huntington High School, 3,

HIS FATHER RELEXIED

BILLY was a football placer from the word go, but his father was an anti-to-obtall man to the finish. The latter was only in the idea that the game was hopelessly brutal and that eventually his son would furn out to be a prize nghter it and interest in the scores of the big games, but never wasered in his opinion that the game and to be suppressed by law. If Billy got his head in the way of a golf stick and was laid up for a week of so, that was a fung which might happen to anybody. If he broken it was activated, in the got his fingers broken while playing baseball, that was a thing which might happen to anybody. If he broken it was the grantsmanning he was advised to be just a bit more careful. If he is raped half the skin off his anatomy in a brock ear of leaf our was the machine's fault. If, however, Billy got a bloody nose, a bad knee, or a black eve while playing to obtail, then it was a outrage to the community that sin he game should be allowed to be played by civilized and educated soms of respectable parents. Billy thought his chances of playing were ever slim, but kept on practicing just the same.

The big Thanksgiving game was to be placed on the grounds of the team's butterest rivals, and, with Bills in the cause, there was a farth good change of coming away victoriums, without finit metre was no begin at all. The team one old that we use play by all means and Billy came to that conclusion houself. Petitions to his tather from the student body of the school a allocation. Members of the faculty, who were more interested in the team's welfare than faculties usually are, found that is set of Billy's house did absolutely no good. Billy, set, was obditiate and it was let to Billy whether hould play without the collection of pater familias or not play at all. Those who knew him best were not much disturbed as to the outcome. Billy winds observed to the bad to get out of town in a balloon.

When the day of the game arrived, a larger number than usual of the team's supporters were at the station to see (coff.). They came, too, to see what Bilk intended to do. He was there all right, grip in hand and a determined look in his tace. Just as the train was getting ready to pull out, however, some one spied a man coming up the street at ull speed. Bilk's tather, we he if was, had a savage look on his face and his eyes glowered threateningly. When he tushed across the platform, Bilk had disappeared, and his team mates were as much in ignorance as to his whereabouts as the irrate father howself. He searched the train from calculations that Bilk could not be found, and the head of the family finally seated himself on an upturined trunk to await develorments. They didn't come and the train pulled out.

Fe team was surprised, dazed and even ready to accuse Billy of being faint-hearted. They were certain that Billy was not on the train, and of course he could not be in the game that afternoon. That meant that the whole team would be out of the one sense of the word. The train covered mile after mile and the boys grew silent, even sullen, they would not put up a game that they need be asbamed of, even if Billy was out of it.

The first station was reached and the placers stepped out on the platform to size up the village. The customary tells were not given and the sleeps villagers due not stand around open-mouthed, as is usual on such occasion. Then might have wondered what the unusual display of ribbons meant, but no deafening shours enlightened them. Suddenly there was a shout, however, and it sounded loud and clear through the crisp fall air. A hand pointed wildly to the top of the train and there, seated on the edge of a ear, his face discolored with smoke and cinders, his eves blinking hard to relieve themselves of dust and ashes, sat Bills, the best half-back in the state, the best kicker on am high school team, Bills the incomparable, the undownable. He jumped down into the arms of his frenzied team mates, was litted to their shoulders and paraded around the platform until the grinning conductor yelled "All aboard!" In that short time the slow-going inhabitants of that sequestered little handet got a taste of football vells and soings that they will never forget. The baggagerinan put the same trunks back into the ear that he had taken out, the fireman threw three show elsfull of coal against the door of the fire-box before he noticed that it was closed. Bills related, in explanation, that he had climed the car when he saw his father coming and managed to remain concealed until the train pulled out. He dufn't want to risk climbing down while the train was minotion, and hence watted until first the station was related.

His team won the game, the final score being twelve to nothing. Without Bills the score would have been reversed. He plaved a game that dazed his opponents. He trushed through the line like a evictione rushes through the golden corn fields of sunny Kansas. He cleared the end like a two-minute horse clears the third quarter to take the home stretch. He tackled so hereely that the crowd thought the home plavers would all be on the side lines before the game was over. Yet all this time, he was picturing to himself what a low tackle his father would make when he got home.

The trip home was the same norse, bosterous affair that it usually is. Those who were not tired after the game were tired before they reached home. Bills got off the train at the depot and started home with dark forebodings of the reception he would get. He could imagine that pater familias was waiting for him at the door horders for him to leave the parental roof forever and sever, once for all, his connections with the scenes of his childhood. His surprise was great when he clumbed the steps with trembling kiness and found no angre father there to greet him. It became still greater when he found that everybody had gone to be dand that the was to his room was clear.

He pulled off his shoes at the bottom of the stairs and started upward on his tip-toes. Having covered three-fourths of the distance without making a sound he stopped to reconnoter. Then he started again, but, to his dismay, stumbled and fell. He lay perfectly still for a time expecting the worst to come.

"William !" came the clear, firm tones from his father's room.

"Sir," answered Billy in a faint voice.

Silence. It seemed to the weary lad that answer would never come. Then in a voice that Billy could hardly recognize as his father's, in a tone that had lost all its coldness came this startling query:

"What was the score?"

THE SWINNEY PARK GRAVEL PIT

By PROF | A PRICE

SWINNEY Park gravel pit is located in the western put of the citry south of Swinney Park. This pit has been the source of supply of a great deal of sand and gravel used for building purposes in the city. More than two thousand twe hundred dollars worth of sand and gravel was taken from the pit last year. The annual out-pit issually amounts to more than two thousand dollars.

An examination of the accompanying figure will reyeal the stratified condition of the deposits. The view shows the exposed strata on the north side of the pit. Near the top the exposures shown in the view are coarse; lower down they are somewhat finer. Fracing the exposed strata to the east along the according to the pit a gradual change from coarse to finer material is noted. In the castero portion of the pit sand predomenate. This portion of the pit furnishes some excellent sand for

Two hundred varies southeast of the swinnet. Park gravel pit hos the Brown pit, a much smaller pit but the source of some time said and gravel. The high rolls we the south and west of those pits will format the city with an abundance of sand and gravel to tor many years to come. This super-abundance of sand and gravel within our city lim is has do crased the cost of this material, which in turn has slightly decreased the cost of building. The ridge requestion is about one-half of a mile long and two hundred to three hundred varils wide. It is the first of a series ridges which extend say miles to the southwest. Fox sland, the favorite resort for the numrods of the city, is the last in the series. The county asylum for the poor is located on one of these ridges. West of the poor farm these ridges increase in number and importance. The longer axes of the ridges invariably extend from east to west. A public road usually follows these longer axes. The farm houses of the neighborhood are located along these roads. North and south of this line of ridges there are very few of these farm houses for a mile or more, but along the roads on the ridges the farm houses occur every quarter of a mile or so. This illustrates the influence of topography and drainage upon the distribution of public roads, which in turn exercises a strong control over the distribution of farm houses.

A continuous stretch of level land, locally known as the 9 prairies," lies to the north of these ridges. To the south there is a similar stretch of land, but narrower. These two level tracts of land unite just west of Fox island. The valley on the north is about two index wide, and is at present drained by Little River—entirely too small a stream to have developed such a broad valley. The level land south of the ridges is drained by large ditches which empty into Little River. The peculiar arrangement of these ridges together with the wide valleys on each side, would indicate that they were formed under conditions entirely different from existing ones. And such was the case.

The broad valley to the north was formed by the large inter-glacial Wabash River, which extended its course to the southwest from glacial Maumee Lake, then covering the level tract of land northeast of the city. This lake, which was formed during the glacial period, in front of the retreating ice sheet, overflowed where Fort Wayne is now located and formed the large inter-glacial Wabash River, which extended its course to the southwest and emptied into the big Wabash River near Huntington.

The valles south of the ridges is the result of the erosive power of the St. Maris river. During inter-glacial times the St. Maris River left its present channel south of Fort Wavne and extended in a westerly direction, uniting with the inter-glacial Wabash beyond Fox island. Later in its history and probably near the close of the glacial period it shifted its channel to the north and finally turned to the northeast and united with the St. Joseph River to form the Maumee. Hence the level lands to the north and south of this chain of ridges date from glacial times. It is also true that these ridges, or speaking more scientifically, these kames, were formed during the glacial period. Whether they are the result of the work of streams coming from off the ice, or of sub-glacial streams, it is impossible to say. However, it is obviously plain that they were formed by running water.

DELTA SIGMA NU

FLOWER Meteor Carnations.

Colors Olive Green and Wine,

Official Organ: Delta Sigma Nu Quarterly.

YELL

Ring! Chang! Bang! Rip! Rah! Ru! Firt Hayne High 8,bol! Dilta Sigma Nu!

CHAPTERS

ALPHA, Founded 1844 — Ann Arbor High School, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Bi (A., Organized 1865) — Fort Wavne High School, Fort Wavne, Ind.

GYMYA, Organized 1867 — St. John's Military Academy, Delafield Wis.

DIETA, Organized 1867 — Pontac High School, Pontac, Mich.

Erstron, Organized 1864 — Duluth High School, Duluth, Wis.

BETA CHAPTER ROLL

CHARTER MEMBERS

ASSOCIATE MEMBERS

Hugh Glen Keegan Harvey Edeill Crine Lee James Ninde Edward Tobias Reitze

ALUMNI MEMBERS

Frank Edwin Davis Asabel I Read Alexander Paul Wood Charles Kimball Foote George Perry Mr Donald Hugo Schlatter. Benjamin Rector Bell Charles Dougail Barrett Philip Everet Bursley. Raymond Hansen Barrows Fred. Morrison Greek James Montgomers Handton Guy Read Bell Charles Simson Hanna, Gus Walter Hamilton. Ralph Emerson Chapus Alfred Murray Cressler Hugh Worthington Crosston Walter Aldrich Barrett. Carl Bradlaugh Woodworth Donald McDonald Joseph Aldrich Bur-ley Charles Starr Brackeninger Walter Henshaw Crim-Carl Fredrick Diether John Jacob Stahl, Frederick Barnett Shout

ACTIVE MEMBERS

With Pap Yarnells, 02 Frink Himilton, 13 Frink Williams, 23 Howard Hereford VanSoeringen, 64 Arthur Warne Paris, 02 Chirle Bish, 03 Rajbi Jones, 03 Miles Porter, 14 Miles Porter, 14 Rajbi Jones, 03 Rajbi Frink, 103 Rajbi Frink, fraternitics

KAPPA ALPHA PHI

FLOWER White Rose. Colors Yale Blue and White.

Larger at Mexice High School, Feb. 16, 1898

$Y \to L \perp L$

Hi' H:' He'
Kappa Alpha Phi!
Live ever!
Die never!
Kappa Alpha Phi!

ROLL OF CHAPTERS

ATPHA . . . Munce High School, Munce, Ind. GAMMA . . Beloit College Academy, Beloit, Wis. Bria Peru High School, Peru, Ind. Dilay . Columbus High School, Columbus, Ind. Ersiros . Fort Warne High School, Fort Warne, Ind.

FPSILON CHAPITER ROLL

CHARTER MEMBERS

ALUMNI MEMBERS

Hugh Smaltz,	Guy Smith.	Carl Upmever.	Baron Long.	Charles Thaver.
Arthur Hibbins.	William Zent.	Arthur Hibbins.	Victor Nussbaum.	Guy Smith,
Charles Alderman.	Paul Hopkins.	Paul Hopkins.	Charles Alderman.	Hugh Smaltz.

ACTIVE MEMBERS

George Thorward, '62.	Harry McCormick, 'c3.	Charles Felts, '03.
William Zeit, 123.	Frank Wilt, 105.	Lurton Halderman, 5.
Louis Nussbaum, 155.	Paul Preston, 123.	David McNaughton, 5.

PIA ALPHA PSI

COLORS Black and Red.

YELL

Rip! Ri!

Phr Alpha Psr! Fort Wayne High School! Rah!

ALPHA CHAPTER ROLL

CHARTER MEMBERS

Daniel N. Beers. Samuel L. Morris, Jr. Harrie W. Moellering. Alexander M. Olds.

ALUMNI MEMBERS

Harrie W. Moellering. Alexander M. Olds.

ACTIVE MEMBERS

Daniel	N.	Beers,	3-
Samuel	L.	Morris,	Jr.,	104.
Royden	Ti	gar, 102.

Edward Olds, '14. Herbert H. Wagenhals, '12. Edgar Fleming, 13.

GAMMA DELTA TAU SORORITY

				ROLL OF	CHAPTE	R S
Alpha,		1895		Kalamazoo, Mich.	G vmma,		1895		Battle Creek, Mich.
Bela,		1895		Jackson, M ch.	EP-HON,		1895		Washington, D. C.
			Z114,	1900		Fort Wav	ne, Ind.

ZETA CHAPTER ROLL

HONORARY MEMBERS	ALUMNI MEMBEI	2
------------------	---------------	---

Florence Ewing Barrett, Carrie Elizabeth Hughes,
Catherine Hoffman,
Esther McDonald,
Llizabeth Jane Knight,
Lesse Belle Reitze,

FLOWER

Marguerite.

Clara Phelps Porter, Hazel Blanch Pearse, Louise Bond, Adelaide Amelia Diether, Alice May Fitch. Almana Beebe. Flora Wilhelmina Peters Emma Della Rossell. Edith May Philley. Georgiana Lura Fee.

COLORS Gold and White.

ACTIVE MEMBERS

Grace Aurelia Fitch. Edith Rebecca Hughes, Helen Jackson. Martha Grace Smith. Elizabeth Morris Evans. Clara O'Rourke. Elimor Bond. Alice Harrison Foster.

PLEDGED

Mamie Elizabeth Blair. Lois Field. Hester Bash, Jessamine Bailey. Donna Saylor.

DELTA SIGMA NU SISTERS

Georgiana Luru Fee. Hazel Blanche Pearse. Alartha Grace Smith. Clara O'Rourke. Esther McDonald.
Edith Rebecca Hughes.
Louise Bond.
Edith May Philley.

Alice May Fitch, Flora Wilhelmina Peters, Emma Della Rossell, Jessie Belle Reitze, Elinor Bond, Elizabeth Morris Evans, Alelaide Amelia Diether, Sinclair Hattersley.

These were the charter members of the Gamma Delta Tau Sorority.

ALPHA OMEGA SORORITY

COLORS Maroon and White. Flower Red Rose,

ROLL OF CHAPTERS

ALPHA Fort Wayne, Ind. Beta Buffalo, New York.

MEMBERS

Florida J. Banning. R. Madge Jewell. Francis M. Greene. E. Evelyn Walter. May B. Woolsey. Jessica M. Faylor.

G. L. C. L.

On en il 17.2

Coron Three Shades of White.

FIOWER Black Rose.

MOTTO

"Later of a volupture."

ACTIVE MEMBERS

Ethel Fryer, Margaret Johnson, Edith Ortman Bessie Keeran.

THE PERICLEAN LITERARY SOCIETY

Corors !	Lavender and	Green.	FLOWER :	White Carnation.

Albert Schaaf, .					President
ARTHUR PARRY,				V ₁	ce-President
DAVID MCNAUGHTON,					Secretary
WILLIAM NULTING,					Treasurer
HARRY McCORMICK,					Censor

CHARTER MEMBERS

ACTIVE MEMBERS

Charles Felts.		C. Bash.	R. Grosjean.	F. Sale.
David Longaci	e.	F. Bohn.	F. Hickman.	J. Smith.
Edward L	ukens.	G. Bohn.	J. Hoffman.	P. Titus.
Harry	McCormick.	 Ł. Łekles. 	W. Hull.	G. Thorward.
1	David McNaughton.	R. Feustel.	G. Knight.	A. Twining.
Paul Preston.	William Nutting.	E. Fleming.	S. Morris.	R. Wilson.
Albert Schaaf.	Arthur Parry.	H. Ginty.	M. Porter.	And Charter Members.

The Periclean Laterary Society was organized September 25, 1971, for the purpose, as the constitution states, of Subsciplining and liberalizing our minds. To attain this object has been the constant aim of the Society. Frequent debates full of interest and practical use have been held. A pleasing program was arranged by the society for the school just before the Christmas vacation. A mock trial which drew forth an immense, though somewhat unruly audience, was held under the auspices of the Society last February. Several other meetings of varying character, but uniform interest, gave pleasant evenings to the members and at times also to the friends of the Society. The Periclean Literary Society is not an organization for this year only. It was formed with a view of making it a permanent feature of the High School. A strong constitution gives back-how to the Society and enough active members will return to school netall to continue the work so well begun. Thus the society will not only develop its members as debaters and orators, give them a broad view of noted authors together with their works, and furnish them with a pleasing yet profitable diversion from their school work, but it will also and in making the Fort Warne High School a truly good place to go to.

THE HIGH SCHOOL GLEE CLUB

OFFICERS

WHEIAM NUTURE,	0	D LUKENS,
	FIRST TENORS
F. Ruf.	A. Schaaf.	R. Willson.
SECOND TENORS		FIRST BASE
C. Durnell. E. Olds. J L. Halderman. H. Sc F. Hickman. E. Ste J. Hoffman. G. T	hlatter. E. Flen erling. H. Gin	ning. H. Link.	G. Sharp. H. Schlatter. P. Titus.
	SECOND BASE

I. Maxwell. P. Preston. W. Nutting. W. Fitch H. McCormick.

The organizing of the High School Glee Club was due mainly to the kind offer of Mr. Miles to direct such a club. An enthusiastic meeting was held January 16th to perfect an organization, and ever since the club has practiced once a week. It has already attained such high efficiency as a musical body that it has twice been permitted to sing at the morning exercises. The Glee Clinb also sang at the "Morning Musical" held in the Wayne Club, April 12, and was applauded very liberally.

The Glee Club is especially remarkable for its splendid tone volume with which it often shakes the old building to its foundation, causing the people in it to wonder whether the world is coming to an end. Such distressingly pathetic meledies are sometimes evolved from the throats of the gifted singers that stray dogs and cats around the building begin to howl with sympathy and a horse occasionally gives vent to a musical neigh, clearly indicating that its musical nature also is stirred up. No rational person can doubt that a glorious future full of fame and laurels is in store for the High School Glee Club.

N. L. U. CAMPING CLUB

Colors Green and White.

FLOWER : White Chrysanthemum.

YELL

Yam' Yam' Fiddle Dale Bum' Hump' Stump' a Flum a Daldle' fir a Bubbe Rig Dum, 'Fig Dues' Buli, Mule, Kiro' Diles, Diro' Sto, Sto, Sto, Rack a Doo' Sto, Rack a Sum Sum, N. L. U.

OFFICERS

MEMBERS

Esther Griffiths. Estelle Heyman. Henrietta Strass. Charlotte Haberkorn. Jessie Parry. Jessie Haberkorn. Hazel Ginty. Juanita Heyman.

HONORARY MEMBER

Mayme Swindler, Indiana University.

D'S OF G.

COLORS Stem Green and Violet. FLOWER. Violet.

MOTTO

96. Gibble, Gubble, Gobble and Get."

М. Е. Т.

MYSTIC ORDER OF FIVE

ACTIVE MEMBERS

Edward Clirence Olds. Miles Fuller Porter.
Milton Hirsh.

MEMBERS

Alice Worden. Helen Hackett. Grace Wilding.

Louise Pellens.

Mary Treat.

Donna Sailor. Lois Field.

ALUMNI MEMBERS

Gerald Sterling. A. Jean You.

""H" | Toil Not, Neither do H" | Spin"

— But H ait :-

THE COTERLE

Corone Olive Green and Crimson

From Red Constitute

MOTTO V. Hymny.

MEMBERS

Jessie Luckey. Pearl Bond. Mande Marie Favor Vreeland. Mae Enter Edith Foster Erma Dochterman.

C. C. C.

Coron- Black and Yellow.

Red and Green.

Course

FLOWER SUPPOWER

MOTTO Besting of Taxation Without Page out in Florence Alderman. Edith Homsher. Grace Gates. Elizabeth Williams. Eavor Viceland Florida Bannins.

MEMBERS

N. C. G.

FROMER Red Car short

MOTTO

" Politican : to do and say The embet thing in the embet a ac-

OFFICERS

ME VIBERS President Margarii Visea. Edith Vooley Jeaners Brown Vice-President Dorothy Kitt. Dorothy Kell. Secretary and Treasurer . . EDITH VOCITY. Della Yann Poster Maker Liny Green Grave Diether. . . . Miss Mary O. Kolb.

Myna Howard

THE SENIOR DRAMATIC SOCIETY

Presenting "The Professor's Discovery"

April 2, 1902.	Broadway Theatre.	General Manage	er: Royden Tigar.	Stage Manager. A. GLENN SAWYER.
		DRAMATIS	PERSONAE
Professor C. T	Lanc, F. W. H. S.,	PAGE YARNELLE	Hilda Lane,	BERNADETTE MONNAHAN
Professor Rayer	n, Professor of Biology,	ALBERT SCHAAF	Jessamine Daly,	FAVOR VREELAND
Bill Cutting,		ARTHUR PARRY	Frank Ramilton,	GEORGE THORWARD
Dorothy Allden	be ₄	VLICE FOSTER	Chester Gunten,	WM SCHADLN
Hardy Night,		ROBERT FEUSTEL	Harry McGinty,	ROYDEN TIGAR
Louise Cutting,		GRACL SMITH	Patrick Dooley, Janitor High School,	ROBERT KINNAIRD
Elmore Bondy.		ELIZABETH EVANS	Other Students, WAG	GENHALS, TWINING, GROSSIEAN

Rage.

Act I. In the first act of the play, the audience is introduced in a general way to the students and the professor who take the parts throughout the whole of the farce. It is here that Professor Raven makes his first public statement regarding an experiment by which he expects to create hie in the form of a star-fish. After the class has been dismissed there is a little general gossep, and some remarks which show the different opinions of the students in regard to the professor and his work. The climax of this act is the determination of Bill Cutting and his sweetheart, Doroth Alldeines, to fool Professor Raven to a joke.

SCHOOL MASCOT

Act II. The first scene of this act shows is the biological laboratory. Professor Raven, assisted by Hardy Night, a student of marked scientific ability, does his work which be foundly hopes will result in a star-fish. Before Professor Raven arrives, however, and while Night is gone on some mission, Bill comes sneaking in to play his part in bringing about the desired results. He defely slips a small star-fish into the jar where the form of life is to appear, and then "makes tracks." In doing so, however, he forgets his notebook. This book is found by Night upon his reappearance. Then Professor Raven arrives and together they work out the experiment to a successful end as they suppose. The second scene is a short one. It takes place the day after the professor's discovery and the whole scientific world rings with the praise of Professor Raven. The papers are full of it and a party of students meeting on the street exchange comments about it. Then comes a second exciting topic. The football team has defeated the Huntington team—5-0. Preparations are made for a celebration on the campus that night. In the next scene the students are out with horns, and colors, yells, songs, speeches and gossip. The campus scene is one of the most realistic of the play.

Act II. This act marks the beginning of the end. The professor, seated in the laboratory, is reading the messages of congratulation that pour in from all parts of the country. Then he repeats the experiment to get exact data. What is this? The star-fish falls to appear! The professor begins to get nervous. Just then Hardy Night comes in and notices Professor Raven's dejected attitude. The professor explains that he has repeated the experiment and no star-fish appeared. He sees that he has been the victim of a practical joke. He charges Night with tand Hardy, to keep disgrace from the brother of the girl the loves—for he feels sure that Bill Cutting did the trick,—does not deny it.

Act IV. In the last act all wrongs are righted. The students as a body learn that the professor's discovery was a farce, and consequently there is much conjecture as to who the perpetrator of the trick was and how he managed it. Then Professor Raven comes in and explains the falsity of his discovery to the class and lays the blame on Hardy Night. This is more than Bill Cutting can endure. He jumps up and confesses his guilt. Then Dorothy rises and explains how she urged Bill on and kept him up to the scratch. Those confessions startle the worthy teacher. However, he forgives both Bill and Dorothy, and reinstages Night, who has been expelled from school.

ANTI-BARBERS' CLUB OR THE LOYAL FOLLOWERS OF SAMSON

MOTTO

In Length of Han There .. Strongth.

MEMBERS

Williams, Ligar. Urtus. Hamilton. Thorward. Dunten. Preston.

UNMITIGATED SONS OF MINISTERS

To prove that ministers' sons are PURPOSE negatively good in the same degree as their fathers are positively so.

CHIEF DEMONSTRATOR Mr. Crowe.

ABLE ASSISTANTS

Wagenhals. Brackenridge. Schoot Leeper.

AGRICULTURAL CLUB

Three Shades of Green.

SPECIAL GIF I

Lo Look Like "Agricolae,"

MEMBERS

The entlemen of the faculty.

THEIR WORTHY SISTERS IN MISEORTUNE

Lois Field. Jessamme Bailey. Elizabeth Williams.

REJECTED SUITORS CLUB

Cena t Vi Shades et Blue.

ATLABLES.

Wagenhals Karas Beers. Feastel.

Note: Wagerhals pleads that be new

MEABERS

C. Haberkorn, D. Saylor, E. Griffith P. Shephard, Nutting, Kinnaird, Williams, Enckson

ART CLUB

Comm. Lyen One in the Ramboul

Ford Their Share in Distinguish the World.

NAVY BLUE AND GOLD ASSERTS ITSELF AT THE 'OI

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

When the members of '01 were making final preparations for graduation, they firmly resolved that no demonstrations by the Juniors should mar their peaceful repose. How they succeeded is alluded to in the '02 history. The occasion was so great, however, that a more complete discussion is appropriate.

The boxs of the Junor Class were comparatively small, and not particularly distinguished for athletic talents, while the boxs of the Senior Class were large, strong-limbed, vigorous fellows. Mentally, however, the two classes were inversly proportional to their physical endowments. Knowing that they must depend upon their brains for successful operations, the Juniors held frequent councils of war, and finally succeeded in mapping out a promising plan of campaign.

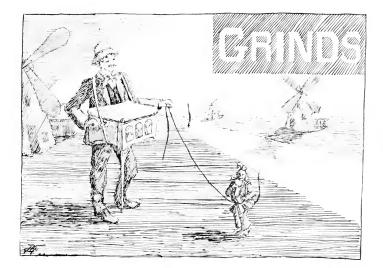

At last the eventful evening armved. The Juniors, who of course served as ushers, appeared in white duck trousers, and dark coars for contrast. Beautiful insignia of the glorious navi-blue and gold fastened on by the '02 class pins presented themselves to view. This tasteful uniformity in dress immediately won the hearts of the whole audience.

The more stirring surprises came a little later in the evening. Just as the salutatorian had finished her charming address, several of the ushers walked down the asle with a mysterious bundle in their hands. When they were in view of the whole audience, they let go, and lo' three balsons, bearing congeous streamers of navy-blue and gold rose on high, midst the deafening cheers of the spectators. Two of these balsons, like good little children, remained aloft in their exalted positions, but the third one was wafted about by gentle zephyrs and rose and fell at its own sweet will.

At length it seemed to decide to head for the speaker of the evening, who was just then miking his address, though probably no one in the whole theater including the speaker himself could tell what he was talking about at this critical moment. Everybody in the house was bubbling over with suppressed excitement. Speculation was rife, as to whether the baloon would him the speaker on his bald spot, and prove a hair restorer, or whether it would merely graze his nose. The Seniors were nearly wild with shame and anger. Hamilton was ready to faint, and Hopkins looked as though he were about to charge through a foot ball line up. At last after long, long moments of painful suspense and anxiety, the baloon reached the stage, and before it could do any further mischief, one of the musicians made a wild lunge and succeeded in capturing the bold scapegrace.

Before the exciting descent occurred, the valedictorian had made her debut. At the close of her masterly oration, she was presented with a heautiful bouquet of white roses, the class flower of "2, tied by long navy blue and gold ribbons. She did the best thing possible under the circumstances by gracefully displaying the noble colors. Thus another plan had succeeded.

The enterprising Juniors were not yet satisfied. At the conclusion of the address by the speaker of the evening, the ushers in the balcony stepped to the Ifont and unfurled long rolls of navy blue and gold tissue paper, and tacked them to the balustrade. This concluded the most elaborate, most successful, and most pleasant series of tricks ever worked at any high school commencement exercises. The friendly character of the tricks is well shown by the fact that later, both the Seniors themselves and the faculty congratulated the juniors on their success. May succeeding classes, if they desire to assert themselves at commencement exercises, follow the example of Nineteen Two in this regard as in all others, and work harmless, unoffensive, and yet excline tricks.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY

"Great Expectations"-Freshmen.

" On the Heights" - The Seniors.

```
"Our Mutual Friend"-Mr. Lane.
          " Pilgrims' Progress "-- The Sophomores.
                                                                       "Bleak House"-Room No. 9.
                     " Hard Times" - The Juniors.
                         " Choir Invisible "-Glee Club.
                                  "Lullaby Land"-Chemical Laboratory.
                                           " Guardian Angel"-Miss Blynn.
"Some Wild Animals I Knew" Figar, Crowe, Jav. Fox.
        "The Man in the Iron Mask "-Ed Leach (Catcher in Baseball Team.
                "Stepping Heavenward"-Miss Hamilton.
                        "Les Miserables" - Junior German Class.
                                "We Two"-Mamie and Harry.
                                       "The Last of the Barons" -Mr. VonKahlden.
                                                    "A Noble Life" -Frank Hamilton.
                                                            "Lover or Friend"-Alice Foster.
                                                                    "V anity Fair "-Miss Kolb.
                                                                             "Nobody"-Dan Beers.
                         "Old Fashioned Girl "-Clara O'Rourke.
                               "Old Curiosity Shop"-Physical Laboratory.
                                               "Our Village"-Fort Wayne.
"Study in Scarlet" - Doris Diamond.
                                                  "The First Violin"-Donna Saylor.
                                                              "Beacon Lights"-Faculty.
          "Seats of the Mighty (Bad)"-Bench.
                                                                         "Shams"-Previous Annuals.
                  "Don Quixote" Mr. McMillen.
```

TUNIORS

I Dosethi Albin by Who secrets object

Kin I h . Handli Adm . But don't make the

v. Mr.: Covertine Went in a tractic do-Or that is soon to

And Hamming a It I have be write to

> But Oh! Danning . . Hildregorie Lanc. Who am not be rule if

Lor of Mis. the same of the con-MacCormick, MacAlleron, And Mr. - Mac Africa

And set come Bill North co. Who set a ten horie, Who no refor a point In a plan Lingh hosses of

Now my gentle reader. Which were as not consequent Who have an are even for the

Who en heated

Smiling David Long co.,

Who a caset imbation

Who would do valuat do t

But, never the least

Wilder O or

Late of House Who I are a co W With the Oliver Artist A.

William

Who is a right to a

12. Mr. Ps. P. 7 and 11

POPULAR MUSIC OF THE DAY

"OH, THE FRESH AND BALAIT AIR"

Composed by William Nutting in commentoration of the frequent kind passes given him free of charge by Mr. Lane. This song is very remarkable for its humorous presentation of grim tragedy as could only be expected from an able and experienced composer like Mr. Nutting.

"HERE THE BEST OF FRIENDS"

A very touching ballad written by Mr. McMillen and dedicated to his wife. This is decidedly the "hit" of the season.

"THE TIGIR HUNTER'S TITO STEP"

By Donna Saylor. When this piece is properly executed it is imitative of thrilling realities so that it is appreciated by all who have enjoyed this most delightful of sports.

"MELTING HEAT, MY LOFE, ANY DEAREST, SWEETEST LOFE, LINE THIS LIFE BUT FOR YOU"

Words and music by Harry Hattersley; characterized by the usual slushing quality of this noted composer's work.

"IFHIT I FOLLY LIFE I LEID"

Words and music by Dorothy Albrecht. This piece has been translated into seven different languages, is sold everywhere, and gives universal satisfaction.

BUREAU OF ADVICE

MR. HARRY McCORMICK

Keep right on using our Demosthenic Voice Restorer. The twee bottles have done you remarkable good. With a few more we think you can make tourself heard at least six feet from your teacher, provided that nothing disturbs the intervening medium.

MISS EDITH FOSTER

We should suggest that you do not ride your pony every night. Occasional jaunts may be permissable, but too much riding will wear it to skin and bones.

AIR. ARTHUR PARRY

If the nosebleed is chronic that, strange to say, invariably occurs when you come to a place in the lesson which you don't know, you had better do something for it. It is very dangerous to lose as much blood as you must have lost.

MISS DORIS DIAMOND

We would advise you to take a dose of machine oil three times a day for that awful shriek. If neglected it may have terrible consequences.

MR. CHARLES FELTS

A pipe may not be as bad as cigarettes, but is notoriously injurious to lanky men. If smoke you must, confine yourself to twenty-five cent Havanas.

In Memoriam

Alexander McCachlan Olds

Mi Cane's Darling

who departed from our midst January twenty-third inneteen builded and two bundred and two

1Pho's left to monin for aller?

NOTES TO ENIAUTON EDITORS

Dear Staff

I should be highly pleased by a good remedy for flunking. Yours with love, Bowln.

Athleto Editor

Kindly discuss last year's football record as little as possible.

The Frym.

Grind Editor

Kindly have a joke or two on Chester and me; it might inspire him.

Lovingly,

ESTHER.

Society Edition

I should be highly gratified by information as to how to get a girl. Yours as ever,

ROBERT FEUSILL.

Mr Dear Illustrating Editor

A good idea for a society picture would be to have me surrounded by rice, old shoes, and white satin ribbons. Lovingly, ALBOY.

Editor-in-Chief

I am confident that through your columns, due to their wide circulation, some person may be found with sufficient ingenuity to invent a phonograph which will automatically repeat the words "please report" at the slightest whisper in the front hall. Miss Kolle.

Business Manager

Kindly do not print the bill presented to us for wearing out the side walk near the high school, and oblige

Laterace Edition

Kindly request the Senior Literature Class not to give vent to a silly and deeply insulting giggle every time my name or abode is mentioned.

MERHISTOPHILLS.

MAMILE AND HARRY.

Literary Edition

Please advise the literary department of your school to cease teaching students wild and impossible interpretations of my simple thoughts. Yours truly,

WM. SHAKESPEARE.

Entauton Staff

Kindly suggest to the School Board that a roof gradient on the new high school building would be a very valuable addition to our botanical equipment. Then, too, I would not be obliged to carry specimens in my wife's handstachel. Yours truly,

E. P. VOORHEES.

Dear Editors

Please don't publish more than fifty-three (53) jokes on me, but have them all in capitals,

DAN.

Dear Annual

Fat says the '21 annual was managed differently, hence you must be on the wrong track. Yours, Elinor.

Calendar Editres

Please do not mention the fact in your department that Robert Feustel put his arm around me in the play, and oblige Grace.

Editor-in-Chief

Please request Arthur Parry through your columns to resign from the Glee Club, or at least to stop singing. Respectfully.

MILLY PASSURAL

Mr. Editor

DEAR SIR. We hereby certify that in future years we will be able to furnish a constant supply of pure gas in the chemical laboratory. We trust that we will be forgiven for the numerous, untimely interruptions of delicate experiments.

ARTHICIAL GAS CO.

Editor of the Enganton

I should like very much to enlist the High School boxs as a volunteer fire man's crew. They displayed their decided abilities in this line a few weeks ago and undoubtedly, as your revered principal is said to have remarked, saved the city.

Yours,

THE FIRE CHILL.

Editor-in-Clast

Please present my resignation from active service on the educational battle field of life. General debuty due to old age and hard usage is my reason for this action. The Orio High Sciences.

Editors of the Emant of

Please roast the Junior German class, not as much as they deserve (for that were impossible), but as much as is compatible with the dignity of the school.

THE BARON.

Business Manager :

Please inform your class that in spite of our sad experiences in former years, we confidently trust that it will pay all its debts. Yours Respectfully,

UNPAID CRIDITORS OF FORMER CLASSES.

Idea to me. Department

I hereby desire to state that I will pay a reward of fifty dollars (85) in two-cent stamps or dilute sulphura acid to ain rap peidler who can by any wax, manner or meins device, invent, plan, discover, or steal a process by which chemistry paper can be immufactured out of the magnificent assortment of rags to be found in the chemical laboratory. All of these have been cleaned, pressed and folded.

Prof. A. B. Crown.

QUOTATIONS

CLASSICAL QUOTATION IS THE PAROLE OF LITERARY MEN ALL OVER THE WORLD

Most of the emment men of history have been diminutive of stature. MAURIL SELLBERG.	Of all the girls that e'er were seen, There's none so fine as—Ask SWERINGEN.
Whate'er he did was done with so much ease, In him alone 'twas natural to please.	I am, sir, an orator. When I ope' my mouth let no dog bark. HARRY McCormick.
RAIPH WILLSON. A horse, a horse, my kingdom for a horse. WILLIAM NUTTING.	The abridgement of all that is pleasant in man. Mr. Lane. A wit among dunces, and a dunce among wits.
A modest youth, with cool reflection crowned. CHURLE BASH. She looks as if butter wouldn't melt in her mouth. ELINOR BOND. I am as sober as a judge. GRALE SMITH. Not pretty, but massive. ADOLPH SCHULLZ. For this sake, tobacco, I	ARTHUR PARRY. The man of thought strikes deepest, and strikes safely. GEARRY KNEOHT. He is a man Of an unbounded stomach. HARRY GINTY. I saw and loved. Roy Thark. I am tied to the stake and must stand by the course. DONAN SAYLOR.
Would do anything but die. Frank Hamlein. The idle man's brain is the devil's workshop. Francis Williams. Her voice was ever soft, Gentle, and low—an excellent thing in woman. Dous Diamond. Home-keeping vouth have ever homely wits. Lirton Halderman.	A fellow of no mark nor likelihood. Page Yarnfile. From the top of his head to the sole of his foot, he is all mirth. Who thinks too little and talks too much. Elizabeth Evans. Unthinking, idle, wild and young. Hazel Ginty.

WILLIE ZINE Wit to be leigh inferon and

Her mate of the tending

Water

CHARLIE TILLIS

GLARRY KNIGHT

HOW ARD S. SOLITOOD :

CALENDAR

- September 9. School opens. More freshmen than ever make their way through the dark halls to the attic.
- SEPTEMBER 10. Alice Foster has a hard time to keep Kent and Fred both on the good side of her.
- SEPTEMBER 41. Mr. Lane announces second-hand books for sale on application to Miss Dochterman and Mr. Thorward.
 SEPTEMBER 18. Mr. Lane sends Alex Olds out for some fresh air.
- SEPTEMBER 19. School closes all day out of respect for Mr. McKinley's funeral.
- SEPTEMBER 23. Edith Foster is the first of the Seniors to be honored with a permanent front seat.
- SEPTEMBER 26. Mr. VonKahlden loses his grade book and hence is unable to count the two weeks' record of Senior A's.
- October 4. Mr. Lane says he never saw a class as stupid as the Junior Latin class.

 October 41. Mr. Miles is absent, so Miss Diamond leads the - singing.

 October 14. Herbert Wagenhals has his first experience on the
- hench. Mr. Lane says that it is the young ladies' influence. October 15. Prof. Lane teaches Jessie Tuckey how to use the dictionary.
- OCTOBER 18. The Periclean holds its first debate.
- October 22. Chas. Felts appears with noseglasses on.
- OCTOBER 23. Miss Blynn has a green plush chair presented to her. Who was the giver?
- October 24. Harry Hattersley and Page Yarnelle think that they prefer the girl's entrance, hence enter building by front door.
- October 27. Edith Hughes looks very stunning in her new dress.
- October 29. Francis Williams has a hair cut.
- NOVEMBER 7. Zona Hopkins and Chas. Felts are now quite intimate.
- NOVEMBER 8. Favor Vreeland refuses to go to staff meeting because the gentleman who asked her waited until four o'clock before he invited her. The boys are 10 slow.

- NOVEMBER 11. Frank Hamilton goes to sleep, and Mr. Lane wakes him up by gently thumping on his head.
- November 12. Prof. Lane has new glasses. They annoy him exceedingly, as he is not accustomed to any kind except noseglasses.
- NOVEMBER 13. Edith Foster is assigned the speaker's chair in the Vergil class.
- NOVEMBER 20. Paul Preston takes another private dancing lesson.
- November 23. Last foot ball game of the season ends with a victory of 5 to 0.
- NOVEMBER 26. Paul Preston returns a reference book to Miss Kolb during a recitation. Paul hears from Miss Kolb.
- November 27. Thanksgiving vacation begins. Teachers as well as pupils rejoice.
- DECEMBER 2. Vacation is over, and the career of books is again begun.
- DICEMBER 4. Prof. Lane leaves his dinner basket in the hall.

 When he goes to get it he finds a small toy basket in its place.
- December 5. Albert Schaaf receives a P in a Geometry test. How wonderful !
- DECEMBER 9. A number of girls apply to Miss Kolb for admission into the I. C.
- December 10. Mr. McMillen sends Page upstairs to advertise his new shoes.
- December 12. Grace Smith sits behind Edward Miller so as to admire his broad shoulders.
- December 16. Alex Olds stops school. The seniors all regret to loose Alex, and the staff will greatly miss his efficient work and untiring efforts.
- DECEMBER 17. Paul Preston aids his brother in stealing the Jefferson school bell clapper. How about that, Paul?
- December 20. Periclean society gives the school a very delightful entertainment as a beginning of the holiday vacation

CALENDAR

- JANUARY 6, 1912. Vacation is over and we all once more joyfully enter upon the daily routine of study.
- JANUARY 7. Mr. McMillen postpones the Senior book review for the Senior of the delegation that appealed to him at noon, " JANUARY 8. Grace Smith frightens Miss Kolly terribly by tumbling down stairs.

- JANUARY 11. The Semors hold a very successful sale.
- JANUARY 13. Edizabeth Evans has her seat changed in literature because she cannot resist the temptation to talk to Page.
- JANUARY 15. Bernadette Monnahan makes a disturbance when the lines are passing, and is given a seat on the bench before each dismissal.
- JANUARY 17. The H. S. Eating club hold a banquet in the ladies dining room. They regret exceedingly that absence from the city prevented Mr. Lane's attendance.
- JANUARY 24. Mr. VonKahlden tells the Seniors that they are far superior to any preceeding classes.
- TANUARY 24. Lilian loost goes to sleep in school.
- JANUARA 27. Mr. Lane explains the use of legal cap to the Juniors who have not yet learned the proper way to use it. Oh, you stupid Juniors.
- JANUARY 29. Mr. Lane blows into the thermometer so as toraise the temperature of the room.
- February 3. First day of new term, and Mr. Lane celebrates it by receiving callers, flunkers.
- FIBRUARY 7. The Juniors give a dance in honor of the Seniors.

 A very enjoyable evening passes away entirely too quickly.

 FIBRUARY 14. St. Valentine's day lightens the hearts of many.
- FEBRUARY 18. Herman Bittler takes a bell to school to play with. Mr. Price says he has a boy at home that would enjoy it fully as much as Herman.
- FEBRUARY 20.. The latest crush promenades. Roy Ligar and Donna Saylor.
- FIRRUARY 21. Grace Smith asserts in literature that she answered the question put to her, but no one stands by her. "Friends tell me not I be, else by gracious ye shall die."

- FERRUARY 24. Erma Dochtermann hars her harr of The result is very "catching," hence for satisfactory.
- FIBRUARY 26. While Mr. Lane is in Chicago the teachers glory in their momentary authority.
- FIBRUARY 28. Mr. Von Kahlden finds it necessary to don rubber boots to pass over the country roads.
- MARCH 4. Dorrs Diamond changes the architecture of her had MARCH 6. Mr. Lane's remark to Alice Foster in Vergil bears repeating. "Well, we are waiting for some sense to emerge."

MARCH 15. William Zent and Estella Helmer promenade.

- MARCH 13. Grace Smith promenades with Miles Porter. He's little but he's better than none so Miss Smith says.
- MARCH 19. The Fox building burns and tully one fifth of the
- MARCH 20. Miss Edith Foster acknowledges that she never translates at sight.
- March 17. Albert Schaal breaks his record of attending school ten vents without missing a session, by being absent occasioned by a spranned ankle, the result, as high school gossips, say of rinning after a girl. This report he yelemently denies.
- MARCH 25. Roy Figar blows his mose and Miss Baket asks. Mr. Ale Millen if he is talking to her. Alt. McMillen tee's highly complimented.
- MARCH 26. Aliss Hamilton tells Roy Lopshire and Laura Botto quarrel a little as they are altogether too intimate.
- to quarrel a little as they are altogether too intimate.

 MARCH 27. William Schaden disturbs the literature in action
- MARCH 31. Mr. McMillen once more has a smooth tace.
- APRIL 1. School closes for the rest of the week on account the convention at South Bend.
- April 2. The great theatrical event of the season, 1*; fessor's Discovery' by the Senior Class.
- APRIL 3. The I mauton goes to press.
- JUNE 18. The Class of $2 graduates. Yery appropriate the High School is heavily draped in black.

ANCIENT MYTHOLOGY AS APPLIED TO THE HIGH SCHOOL

 Terra Firma
 The High School.

 Tartarus
 The Bench.

 The Elysan Fields
 The Rear Seats in Room 9.

 Mt. Olympus
 Mr. Lane* Platform.

DIVINE BEINGS

Zeus : Mr. Lane. Mars : Mr. McMillen. Apollo : Mr. Vorhees, Vulcan : Mr. VonKahlden. Neptune : Mr. Price.

Mercury : Mr. Crowe. Juno Mrs Jav. Mrs Kolb.

Ceres : Miss Hamilton. Venus : Mrs Kolb.

Vesta Miss Sperry. Saturn : Mr. Study.

Pluto—God of the Under World : The Janutor. File Three Fates - The School Board.

ANCIENT HEROES AND HEROINES

Hercules Adolph Schultz.

Achilles (the Warrior) Harry Hattersley.

Pandora Doroth Albrecht.

Party William North

Pandora Dorothy Albrecht. Perseus William Nutting-Menclaus Robert Feustel. Theseus Roy Tiear.

Helen Erma Dochterman. Ariadne - Donna Saylor.

Orpheus Howard Sweringen. Queen Dido - Grace Smith.

The Cross of the Argo . The Staff. Jason Albert Schaaf. The Golden Fleece . The Annual.

FINAL EXAMINATIONS

GEOMETRY

- Prove that the Freshmen are variables which constantly approach the Lilliputians as a limit.
- Given, Dorothy Albrecht in a crowd of boys. Find the locus of Dorothy.
- 3. Prove that 6 Boots 7 Fitch is a point $_{5}$ $_{7}$ $_{7}$ has neither length, breadth nor thickness.
- 4. Find the ratio of the empty space in Ashlev's head to the sawdust in Bowlie's,

PHYSICS

- What kinetic energy is expended in bringing Mr. Crowe to the boiling point by the Kinnaird rapid-fire question process?
- If Dunten fell into the Maumee river with a bottle of champaigne in his pocket, what would be the buoyancy of his spirits?
- If Yarnelle sets down on a tack what is the acceleration in the normal velocity of his rising?
- 4. What horse power is required to overcome Hamilton's mertia?

E. O. K. A.

- Why does Mr. VanKahlden shave his head annot his face?
- 2. Did Mr. Lane and others of our "Profs." really buy their bicycles at the Fruit House sale.
- How are the Juniors like the villain in a dimensatinee?
 - SUGGISTION He can only say, "Foiled again."
- 4. Why are students seldom kept after school during the bowling season?
- 5. Why do the Freshman girls always decline which as follows

- to. Why are some students always absent from school the day before examinations and book reviews?
- 8. At what corner 3. If the "Scop" stard when denew High School dream a real of 3.
- $g_{\rm e}$. Where does Mr. Crowe get his peppermedtops?

THE JUNIOR BLAST

Vol. o, No. o.

APRIL 7, 1902.

PUBLISHED BY 1903.

A GREAT BATTLE FOUGHT

SENIORS WIN.—JUNIORS COMING IN A POOR SECOND.

First Wayns, J8m, April 3, 1952.—The rumor has been circulated that the doughty champions of '22 have met and completely annihilated the class of '23 in a mighty battle fought at Broadway Theater last evening. The whole army of the Juniors attacked and carried the outpost of the Seniors, but '02 reinforcements came up just in the nick of time. After some charges and countercharges they succeeded in regaining the prisoners, who had been placed in an army wagon for safe conduct, and in putting the Juniors to rout.

FORT WAYNE, IND., April 4, 1902.-The shove report has been verified with the addition that General Felts took a seat "way back" at the performance given by the class of '02. As commanding general of the class of '03, 'Ceis his defeat most keenly, but claims that it was due to the insubordination of Colonels Dunten and McCormick. These two officers were interviewed and say that General Felts got his orders mixed and did not use either wisdom or strategy in carrying out his campaign. The loss was Seniors 5, Juniors 9,29" killed and wounded. Besides this it is reported that Captain Bowlie lost considerable hair in the precipitate rush dozen the mountain side

SENIOR DRAMATICS

Last Wednesday night at Broadway theater, occurred what the audience declared was the greatest dramatic representation of years. Thousands were turned away.

The caste, which in lided all the theatrical stars of the American stage was in especially fine condition, and the presentation of the "Professor's Discovery," was marvelous. This result was largely due to the efforts of Mr. Ronald Dawson, who spent much time in bring the troupe to the highest point of efficiency. For once, the Juniors, overawed by the majesty of the Senior class, and not yet forgetful of their recent defeat, remained perfectly

The most exciting point in the play came in the street scene, in the second act, when Hardy Night, alias Robert Feustel gracefully twined his arm docile.

about the waist of Miss Louise Cutting, alias Miss Grace Smith. It is greatly to be feared that the shock given to Miss Cutting by this act of gallantry, has not yet wholly departed.

Miss Elinor Bondy's gracious acceptance of that beautiful and fragrant bouquet, which looked as if it came from a last summer's hat, was another noticable event. Poor little Frank Hamilton was almost broken-hearted

THE BOLD KIDNAPPERS

Twenty little Junior lads, Unworthy most of mention, Went to Schroeder's hall one night To raise a huge dissention.

A Senior lad stood near the door; One of the lovers, he, Who was by chance the destined one To be taken by naught-three.

But his sweetheart could not spare him, So after him the Seniors chased,

KIDNAPPED

And out into the crowded hall And down the stairs they raced.

And down there on the street below, Occurred a mighty hout, And the Seniors drove the Juniors In confusion and in rout.

Then from the rickety wagon, Drawn by a bony horse, They took the stolen Parry, And brought him back perforce.

LIVELY SCENES IN SENIOR SENATE

WEAGTHEPTOPHATEL, MARCH 31, 1902. Many lively scenes were witnessed in the senate house today. The result is that there are three dead and four seriously wounded Senators. The meeting was called to order by Penadent Pure. The door was made

President Parry. The floor was immediately selded to Senator Yarnelle who offered resolutions to have the susual commencement dance. A heated discussion immediately arose. The gentleman from Kicker County, thought that the dance was a good place to show off our new dust set the admiring public. He was greeted, with first properties of the with efficiency to the properties of the properties of the with efficiency has been always and the properties of the with efficiency has been always and the properties of the with efficiency has been always and the properties of the with efficiency has been always and the properties of the with efficiency has been always and the properties of the prop with effusive ha! ha's!

In the twinkling of an eye a great fight was on, bot åir, spleen and bad blood were hurled through the air with the rapidity of lightning; above the tunnil was heard. "You're a liur". The president shouted vanls for order. In a fit of passion Senator Feustel broke a blood vem and died a most pathetic death. Two others followed suit and three happy souls had escaped the sorrows of this world. The singing of the High School Glee Club at that moment drowned out the cries of the infuriated senators, and the president recognized a motion for adjoint ment, which was carried by unanimous approval. The remains of the lamented Festiva will be in state with those of the others for asswers we whom the probability.

Some girls at the high school would be called Miss "Flour On the Face" if they lived among the Indians.

A GRAVE OFFENSE

Highschool dom, April, 1, 1972. This realm has been thrown into much uproar and confusion resulting from the capture of one green goods man who was caught while fast-cume, the door of the sanctum of Learnocks.

The police and detective force take great pride in the capture, as the culpirt has made several successful attempts of the same nature. It was amounced from the rostrum that this prisoner "was a problem and should be made an example of," The evid officers have called out the militar as there are many conspirators banded together with the convict, and a great univarie is forted.

When interviewed, the prisoner smiled blandly and remarked that it was worth six weeks on the bench at hard labor, to cause the police department so much worry and loss of sleep. He was that he was in go, bribed to do so desperate an act. It is that his sentence will be three to two days of the open air, with all privileges of attribute classes taken away.

SENIOR DRAMATICS

because he was hissed by some Jungoss, who are in the habit of hissing the constitution in the famous dime mattinees. This hissing, or again the famous dime mattinees. This hissing, or again to approximate the only mark of disapproval or approximate them the Jungos could summon operation of courage to after. Our poor little, weak-hearted class of "g" It's a shame".

Women were made before the mittor and have remained before it ever since.

WANT ADVERTISEMENTS

West
	Lea
Washington
	1.
Wasan La In In

Volse Lane 1

Born Art Market Market

Waxen 1/

It is a first the Market Marke

I Assertion and Landson American

A BIRDS-EYE VIEW

	P 48 1	PRESINT	LUTURE
Mis. Kell	College Belle	Studing Pedagogae	President of W. C. T. I.
Gaice Smellin	Not Recorded	Cheerful L. aw ser	Fair, Fat and Forty
Edwird Luketing	Amateur Actor	Basso in Glee Club	Proprietor of Prize Ring
Clari O Rourke,	Studions	Studion	Studien-
Rulph Willson,	Going West	Rushing Helen Jackson	Wieskal Star
Mr. McMillen,	Lewber et Indiana University	Feacher at High School	Country Teacher
Jessimme Bailey,	Manima v Darling	Quiker Maiden	Mussianary
Hazel Condres,	Civing Bile.	Amateur Hocutionist	Stump Speaker
William Northna,	Cher Boy	Mister Innocence	Descon
Jose Hibercorn,	Sweet Singer	 Burne Cook	Plumbing
Miles Porter,	Short Trousers	Long Tropers	Knickerbockers
James Smith,	Playing Troant	Same as M. P
Lmu Dochternus,	Normg a Broken Heart	Working for a 55 Case	Woman Suffragist
Anna Buidle,	Jumping Rope	- Student	School Marm
Mr. Lane,	Principal of High School	Principal of High School	Principal of High School
Arthu Purv,	Asting Like a Child	Indifferent	Poet Laureate of United States
Lillian Joset,	Whomg Little Girl	Always Smitten	Liopement
Hazel Ginty,	Lattle Farry	A Spoled Child	Change of Name
Dan Beers,	Born Talking	Still Talking	Died Lalking
Frank Hamilton,	Big Mouth	A Png	Preacher
Unzabeth Lynn ,	Durch Blonde	Just  Lazzie *	Ask Page
Charles Felt.,	A Chubby Little Boy	Stile	Would-be Kidnapper ,
Hennetti Stre.,	4 Very Doctic Child	Chatter Box	Prima-Donna

A BIRDS-EYE VIEW

	PAST	PRESENT	11.11.10
Paul Pre tim,	The Procher And Spoot	Gridting the Latie	Fair . * H
Grorgia Davi ,	A Pretty Lattle Vlaid	Brishint Withen its of	1 s her in High Sc
Harry McCormick,	Lect in Glora	Emisterial Onator	Pertitinger
Dorothy Allors ht,	Chattering Biles	Automatic Jumping Jack	En ky Olt Mi
George Thorward,	Den Little New Iow	Being Cub	1010 a School for Forbir M.
Royden Ligar,	Woodes	Diport Slave	Proposition Constraint
Sinclur Hatter lev,	Student it High School	Straint at High Silver	Section in High 8
Francis William ,	Monkey	Pateres &	Wholker
Los Field,	Buthlo High School	V. V. Hollor	Dure. Wit
Howard Sweengers.	A Greed Little Follow	 Greens West of Who 	So to Work
Page Yarnelle,	Disc, a Den Jack Bert		Anna San
Alice Eister,	Kildib	10.1
Harry Hatter-lev.	Pinnler	$(v_{-1}, v_{-2}, v_{+1}, v_{+1}, v_{+1}, v_{+1}, v_{+1}, w_{-1}, w_{$	H - 1 H - 1
Donna Saylor,	v Men Child	A Post Spin	police to Let 18
David McNaughton,	With the College	Lit Yea Lat Wass High 8	Ward Sch
Elmor Bond,	Swearing it Mr. Line	Promosali g with Let	White L. Herreley
Alson Tennant,	a A Lattle Mischert	A Young Dance:	Com Maras As
Manue Blair, .	Hill School	A Planting Concern	WE-Kn-w
Grace Wilding,	A Little Lucy	A. Spir For	S and Mr. C
Robert Feu-tel,	Teacher Per	Swell Dancer	Lorens
Edith Foster,	A Poor Microrn	Skillful Memor er it Tee e	C. W.
Lether Griffith,	Amateur Swimmer	Orbb In L	Ren we to Virginia
Lerton Haldern .	Hard Worker	 10. 11	81.1

THE PEACE OFFERING OF THE TUSCARORAS

By ELIZABETH WILLIAMS, WESSER IS THE 2 ASSERTED STORY CONTEST.

THE Great Spirit was angiv. His children, the Tuscaroras, had offended Him by omitting the yearly sacrifice of a drove of bison. For main moons no rain had fallen on the parched ground. The buffaloes had wandered to the westward, seeking fresh grass. No fish could be found; even they had sought the depth of the cool river bottom. The tribe of the Tuscaroras had been wandering, hither and thirter, in search of food, but success had not yet crowned their efforts.

The shadows of evening were creeping over the valley where the red men were camped for the night. As the sun sank behind the distant billtops, it east its last faint raw upon a heautiful picture. Through the whole length and breadth of the valley were scattered the tents of the Indians. Forming the center of a large group, and conspicuous for its size and ornamentation, stood the lodge of Pearl Feather, the chief. Closels surrounding this were the lodge of bearl Feather, the chief. Closels surrounding this were the loge of his kinsmen, as well as his relatives by marriage. It was an animated scene to which the sun was bidding farely. Some of the women were hurring to the river to fetch water; others were broiling the remnants of meat, which they also tored away when game was plentful. Children were quarreling and playing. Young braves were jumping and wrestling; a few were corraling the best and fastest horses, while driving the rest of the herd to the surrounding country for starter.

When the tumult had reached its height, the door of Pearl Feather's lodge was pushed back, and the chief himself strode forth. His robe of newly-dressed cowskin, white and smooth, covered him from head to food was held as closely about him as though it were winter. He was of immense stature, and the clinging robe covered, but did not conceal, the lines of his giant frame. A single pearl-colored feather in the scalp lock indicated his rank, and gave him the name the Tuscaroras local so well. His face was kindle and dignified; and he spoke pleasantly to a child who obstructed his path.

Upon his leaving the tent the noise subsided and was not renewed intil he had gone beyond hearing. With long rapid strides Pearl Feather covered the distance between the camp and the hills, climbed to a jutting rock, and there stood motionless, his tall figure sharply outlined against the evening sky. The kindly face was filled with sorrow, as he stretched his hands to the North, South, East and West, and then to the sky. In his heart he felt that there must be One who would take care of his children. Then, wrapping his blanket about him, he returned to his lodge.

Suddenly the beat of the tom-tom broke on the air. Forth from their tents came those warriors who were distinguished for some special bravery. They entered the dwelling of the chief and silently took their places.

Pearl Feather, who was stiting in a far corner, neither looked up nor greeted the braves as the filled in and seather themselves about him. He filled and lighted the pupe, and after smoking, handed it to the warrior on his left, and so a passed to each in turn until all had smoked. Even though they were starving, the customs of their fathers should be observed.

At last Pearl Feather broke the silence,-"My brothers, the Great Spirit is angry; what shall we do to please Him?"

None of the warriors looked up at this speech, but all remained gazing steadfastly on the ground. Again the pure was allow-lighted, and returned, and all smoked in silence.

At length, Kahgahgee, the black raven, chief of the medicine men, spoke,—"My brothers, let us go to the abode of the Great Spirit, where the waters thunder and roar. There the medicine men will hear in the voice of the God how we can get back our food."

One by one, the red men showed their approval by a grim nod. Then said the chief, ""My brothers, so be it," and with a wave of his hand dismissed them.

When the last warrior had left the lodge, the curtain was pushed gently back and a beautiful maden danced in. Wawenansa, the chief's daughter, was the pride of the whole tribe, and indeed, she was a beautiful picture as she stood for an instant outlined against the dark background of the tent.

As the old chief looked up and saw her standing there, his face lighted up and he held out his arms with a wealth of love in his veys. Then in an instant he became again the Indian, calm and unemotional. Wavenarss preceived all these changes, but was not disturbed, and running up to her father, saluted him gravely. The old chief gazed at her intently and not even his Indian nature could repress the love from shuning forth from his eves. But of what he was thinking, whether his thoughts were sad or pleasant, he gave no sign, and rising slowly made his way out of the tent.

Waxenaiss followed him out, but chose a different path from the one taken by her father. Evidently she was looking for someone, for from time to time, she would turn and look behind her. Presently she saw a tall figure hall concaled among the bushes on one side of the trail. The girl knew who it was; for when she saw they giper she smiled the herself and continued her walk along the trail. When she had come opposite the figure, it took a quick step forward and a voice called "Wawenaisas."

The girl turned with an air of great surprise and said, "Why Nawadaha, is it von?". The young brave regarded, her reproachfully for an instant, then seeing that her eyes were running over with laughter he snatched her to him and held her in a long embrace.

"O, Nawadaha," said the girl, "will the Great Spirit be always angry. My father is so sorrowful."

"We are His children," said the brave, "he will care for us,"

By the rising of the sun the next morning the tribe was on the march, the men on horseback and the women, save Wawenaissa, on foot. Nawadaha, on pretence that his horse was lame, lagged behind and so most of the time kept near his beloved. For days the band marched on, until one night, just at the setting of the sun, they encamped where they could plainly hear the roar of the great falls of Ongiara - Nagara -

Again the braves of the Tuscatoras sat in council, this time around the open camp fire. Pearl Feather filled the pupe and after cach had smoked, he rose and said. "Mb bothers, the medicine men have listened to the vice of the Great Spirit, shall we hear them?" After the others had expressed their approval, he gave Kalpagueg a sign to speak. "Mb bothers, the Great Spirit is very ++ but he loves the Tuscatoras and has tool us how to please Him. We heard from Hun that Waweriansa, the man monthly before the first properties of the day after the full moon she is to paddle out in the cache and he will!" reads to receive her.

As Kahgahgee finished speak -- he beckoned Wawenaissa to him and piaced in her hand a shell with the totem of the tribe engraved upon it. As the old chief saw the symbol of death in the hand of his child, a spasm of agony passed over his face and he made as if he would spring to her and protect her from all harm. Then as he sank dack his face became passive and calm, and raising his hand, he gave the signal of dismissal. Kahgahgee with his medicine men took charge of Wavennissa and led her to the scartificial tent which was set upon a hill.

It was the evening of the third day. All this time Nawadaha had spoken to no one. He remained all day in the door of his lodge with his eves fixed on the tent in which his beloved was imprisoned. But after darkness had fallen on that third night he wakened into life again and quickly made his way to the tent on the hill. He led with him a beautiful little Indian point but as they passed around the sleeping village they made no sound, for Nawadaha had bound upon her feet strips of deerskin to prevent all hoofmarks as well as to deaden all sound.

When he reached the lodge Nawadaha opened the door, made a few steps in the gloom, and then called softly "Wawenaissa." In an instant the grif was in his arm and he strained he to him with passionate fervor. "My Nawadaha, do you not know the torture that awarts you if you are found here? My love go."

He only clasped her closer as he said "Lasten, Wawenaissa, my white dove. In the hushes wonder is Firefly. Come with me. No one can reach us on the trail. We will go to the top of some high mountain, where my white dove will be safe."

The girl's face while he had been speaking had grown stern and pale. Putting her hands on his lips she cried "Stop, Nawadaha, do not tempt me for I must remain here. Do you not know that the Great Spirit is angry. I must saw people. Go my love," and raising her face she pressed her lips to his. She was now the chef's daughter, firm in her part pose to due to save her people. The young brave said no more but in his face could be seen a fixed resolve. He took girl's hand and raised it to his lips. Then with a last look into her eyes he went out leaving Wawenaissa alone in the moon-links might.

As the sun began to use the next morning, signs of life were seen throughout the village, for was not this day one of feasting and rejoicing. No more would they know the pangs of hunger and want, for Wawenaissa the chief's daughter, the pride of the Tuscaroras, was to give her life that the right find food and rament.

When the sun was high in the heavens they began to crowd down to the very brink of the Falls. In a short time the beat of the tom-tom was heard and down the full came the procession. First came Pearl Feather about dignified, then the Medicine Men. In their midst walked Wawenaissa. Her face was pale but firm. She was docked as for her briddle. Her single garment was a flowing sheet of dressed white cow-kin. On her head was a garland of flowers. Flowers were strewn over her neck and shoulders which were bare. As the procession reached the edge of the water it paused and formed a circle. Wawenaissa for an instant hesitated and swaved to and fro. Then calming herself she walked floward and stepped into her flower laden came. Picking up the paddle, she paused and for one moment looked at her father with a vearning steadfast gaze. Then giving a gentle push, she paddled out into the current. As she reached midstream a came shot out from under the over hanging trees that fringed the island across from the mainland. In an instant her recognized Nawadaha and stretching out her arms, gave a low cri. But realizing how powerless he was to save her, she stood calm and motion-less. As they reached the brink of the Falls the two hoats touched, and learning out the lovers clasped hand. In that one moment they lived a life time, and looking into each other' seves, they read the undving love written there. Then hand in hand they shot over the Falls. The Great Spritt was appeased.

EXPEDITION OF THE "SEVEN AGAINST THERES"

NE evening last June, seven Juniors who are seniors at present, or at least ought to be, made the noble resolution to become active followers of the "Seven Against Thebes," in other words, they decided to deck the high school with their colors. Anyone who believes in the doctring of remearation might well have judged from their eloquent speeches and more eloquent actions, that they were actually the original seven. Their undertaking was not as easy as it seems. This true there were no walls to demolish nor Thebars to kill, but there was something far worse. King Pluto had sent up Cerberus, or rather his descendant, for he had only one head, which, however, was surely more terrible than the three heads of Cerberus. This turious creature had eyes as large as dimner-plates, a featful growl which sent the cold chills up one's back, and worst of all, teeth like mill-stones. Thus, at least, the recommodering agent of the seven described the beast. In addition to the dog, an Irishman and a German stood guard, both armed to the teeth with course obs, ammonia pixtols and fotten eggs.

At this description, three of the don, his warriors suddenly remembered that they were due at home, and the other four were left to discuss what a big "Seanch" the original seven had in comparison with their undertaking. At last they adopted the heroic resolution to cut heles into aims, respectively containing gold and blue paint, to sally holdly pass the school with them, and to scatter the class colors over the entire salewalk. After considerable del becation, this resolution was executed, and as fortune favored them, of course because they were members of "2, they were mamolested. Thus their purpose was accomplished, though four pairs of trousers were saily started during the exploit.

JAQUELINE

JAQUELINE MANNING sat in her cozy little parlor, apparently a prev to her thoughts. With her elbow on the window-sill, Jone hand supported her head which drooped slightly forward in a dreamy way. Her other hand held a little note. Her large brown eves had a vacant stare as she gazed dreamily out at the dull grey sky where long slant rats of carmine tool that Apollo had just passed with his fiery team over the western horizon. The heauty and fulling charm of the sky were in no way responsible for the reverie.

Lapteline is a young writer and a teacher. But she is a not planning a new book, nor is she dreaming of her school work. The little note in her hand, which had arrived early in the afternoon, had caused her to timk over past life. Her early happy childhood had passed before her mental vision like a panorama. Now, as the sun is bidding adout to this side of the globe, she thinks of the time when, as a young girl, she had entered a home almost every thought of which was paint better words one. This home was the residence of her father's wealthy uncle, to which she had removed with her brother after the death of their widowed mother. The house and furmishings were beautiful, but they lacked the home-like coziness of the cottage they had just left, where the very atmosphere spoke of love. At the time they entered this new home their revent sorrow lay heavily on their young hearts; but neither the practical business man nor his cold proad wife showed a spark of pity for the two oriphans with the particular partic

The greeting was formal and void of any show of affection. After the aunt had assigned them to their rooms she remarked that she hoped they would be contented and not be troublesome. How could a mother speak thus to two motherless children?

That cruel word, troublesome, burned its way into their hearts as though it had been branded there.

The old melodian and the jewel casket, precious heirlooms in the family, which had been brought from the old home, had been carried up to Japucline's room. How glad they were to escape from the stifting atmosphere of that library to their own quiet rooms, where the japucline's room of the feel and gave vent to her tears. Cass sat down before the fine old instrument and softly placed and sang some of the songs that they used to sing in their old home. The notes fell like a halm on the heart of the young girl. She arose and went to her brother's side to mingle her pure contralto with his rich boxish conce.

The housekeeper, who happened at that moment to pass the open door, stopped to watch the two, unobserved. Harriet Mathews' kind motherly heart was touched by their music and their loneliness. Down deep in her good heart she promised that those two motherless children should not know the need of a friend as long as she could serve them. She trembled with apprehension for them when she learned that in a short time they were to attend school with two of their cousins, proud and overhearing children, who, she knew, would openly sneer at and south them.

The two children were together only in the evening, as both had work to do after school was dismissed for the day. Cass was due at his uncle's business hone; Jaqueline had the care of her little cousin Flo, a child three years old. Both children, after their work was done, took advantage of the privilege of using the library where case after case of books invited their perusal. As a result of reading a set of law books, Cass was served by a desire to become a lawyer. Jaqueline, justly proud of his self-gained knowledge, encouraged all his hones and plans.

After they had been in their uncle's home two years, they were sent away to school. Cass was to enter a law school to fit himself for the profession he had chosen. Jaqueline, with the intention of becoming a teacher, was to complete her studies at a seminary. As the schools were a great distance apart, the brother and sister could see each other rare's. Between the two had grown a lose stronger than any tie of kinship. It was the lose of two sympathetic heats united in a common sorrow. It was indeed hard for these to be separated for the first time by such a distance and forced to struggle with hir's problems alone. Long and painful was the parting seene. Cass, as the older, tred to don a cheerful manner; but before he could control himself he had dropped to the floor at his sister's feet and covered his face in her lap. It was then Jaqueline's turn to comfort. Tenderly the young girl smoothed the thick dark har from his broad forchead. She only said. "We shall write each other long letters every week. We'll not forget." Just before the cah reached the station, Cass clasped his sister in his arms and imprinted a lingering kiss on her fair brow. After he had seen her safely seated in her car he hade her good-live and entered another train that was to carry him in an opposite direction.

Athough the first few weeks at school were very lonely ones for both, their work occupied their time and they kept in touch with each other by their letters which were eagerly opened and decoursed. After a time Cass often came to mention in his letters a friend and classmate, Carl Allen. Once he wrote "He sympathizes keenly with us for he has known the same sorrow that we have known. He is a very dear, kind friend and I know that you would admire him."

After the had been away about two years, Cass, in one of his letters, gave Jaqueline reason to believe that he intended to make her a short visit. With the letter in her hand she stood looking out of the window at the falling snow, when she was startled by the ringing of the teahell. As she walked down the long hall, her mind still busy over the letter, she was joined by Professor Allston, a young man of pleasing personality and fine intellet.

As her teacher, he had learned to appreciate Jaqueline's quick, active brain and true womanliness. Though he was a pleasant companion, it was her womanliness which prevented his being numbered among her friends until he had proved himselt a true man.

As he had shown himself both manly and courteous, the friendship was a source of pleasure and benefit to both.

This evening, as he walked by her side down the hall, he said that he and his mother were to attend a lecture the next evening, and that he should like her to accompant him them. This was the first time he had ever asked Jaqueline to accompant him to any public entertainment and she was surprised. She was about to make a polite refusal, then reconsidered the matter and said: "I should like to meet voir mother, and shall be glad to go." She noticed that his anyions face studdenly brightened and his whole manner changed. A few days later, while thinking over the events of that week, she suddenly became aware that this man's regard for her had grown into something dearer than mere friendship—something which she could not return. Young and ignored olve as she was, she knew mututively that this man's whole heart was given to her. The revelation caused her no slight regret, for she had found much pleasure in his society.

Some weeks after the first appearance of spring, Jaqueline was thrown into the greatest delight over a telegram from Cass stating that he would arrive in South Hampton that afternoon. So great was he re-verlooked the words, vil bring a friend with ne." As the telegram arrived about twenty-five minutes before the train was due, she had just time enough to put on her wraps and go to the station. Down the statis and through the long hall she almost rain in Faiste. School had just been dismissed, but she did not notice Frank Allston standing in a class room door. When he saw the girl's disturbed manner and flushed, eager face, he determined to follow her unobserved.

As there was no street ear or cab in sight when she reached the street, Jaqueline started to walk to the station. On reaching it she learned that, as a result of a wreck, the train would be late. A thousand misgivings surged through her mind as she pictured all the horrors of a wreck. She entered the waiting room but, in her agitation, the air within was stilling. She wanted to walk and think. Up and down the long platform she paced, a victim of hopes and fears.

When the young professor, standing in the shadow of a clump of trees, saw the emotion written so clearly on her eloquent face, he longed to tell her of his love and share her sortions. But he knew only too well that the young girl treasured not a particle of love for him. A deep despair crept into his heart, chilling it as from a blast of an iev north wind, and leaving his face blanched and drawn.

When at last the train pulled in, Jaqueline saw a cot taken from one of the coaches and carried to the waiting room. On coming nearer she recognized the dear face which she would know among a thousand! With a low cry she ran to the cot, encircled the injured brother in her arms, and covered his face with kisses.

Beside the oot, and clasping one of the man's hands in his, stood a tall broad shouldered young man with early black hair and clear gree vees. Carl Allen looked with tender pity at the girlsh figure kneeling opposite him. She was entirely unconscious of her surroundings in her passionate grief. His heart was strangely touched by her low moan. "Cass, Cass! Speak to me, your little sister. Oh! speak to me, Dead! No, no, 1 It cannot be. It must not be! O, my brother.

The brother opened his eves and reached out his hand to smooth the glossy brown curls which hang about her temples. The distracted gird caught the hand in hers and covered it with barning kisses. The injuried main then spoke but with an effort.—"Dear sister, don't weep so'! I know that it is a sad meeting after our long separation; but He knows hest. Carl who has been like a brother to me, has promised, as far as he can, to see that no harm comes to you. So do not cry. Bear up a hall soon be at rest. Good-bye, Carl. My dear brave little sister — good-bye." As the dying brother's eyes closed in their last sleep, Jaqueline fell into a stupor from which she did not rouse until three weeks later.

When she came to herself in her little white bed at the school, her brother had been buried for more than two weeks. The first objects that met her eves were two clusters of beautiful roses on a little table beside her bed. She took them in her hands to enhale their rich netrime. Down among the leave were two cards. On one was written "With the love of Frank Allston;"

on the other simply "Carl Allen." Grateful tears filled her eyes and trinkled over the flowers.

On the last day before returning to his western home, Carl Allen asked to be permitted to see the sister of his lost friend. Harriert Mathews, the retired house keeper of Jaqueline's uncle, had left her home to care for her young friend. She handed the young girl his kindly worded note. Jaqueline nodded to her to answer the note with "yes."

At the close of the interview, he held out his hand kindly and said, "I should like to take your brother's place if I can." She smiled sadly up into his eyes, but shook her head. She extended her hand which he pressed warmly, and then was gone.

The remaining two terms of Jaqueline's school life were spent in trying to drown her sorrow by study. She knew that in the west a young eastern teacher could command a good struction. After her graduation she applied for all secured a desirable position in the western city of V—. It was not a large city but a wealthy, prosperous one. Harrier Matthews purchased a little cottage which Jaqueline taskefulls framshed.

Of Carl Allen, Jaqueline had heard nothing except once or twice, accidentally. A school-mate had placed in her hands some college papers in which his name was mentioned. If he knew that Jaqueline had accepted a position in V – she was not aware that he knew it.

One morning, on her way to school, Jaqueline was surprised to see a sign over an office — "Carl Allen, Attorney-at-Law."

That evening when she returned from her school he was sitting on the little vine covered veranda at her home, talking to Mrs. Mathews. The greeting was cordial and a pleasant conversation followed.

As time went on, Carl Allen, the rising young lawyer, often sat on the veranda and was attentive to Jaqueline, not only be-

As time went on, Carl Allen, the rising young lawyer, often sat on the veranda and was attentive to Jaqueline, not cause of a promise to a dying brother, but because he had grown to love his friend's pure young sister for her own sake.

On the same day that Jaqueline promised the young attorney to be his wife she received a little note from Frank Allston. In know it if she would write her name on his letter and send it to his address.

It is that note which we see in Jaqueline Manning's hand when we look in upon her little parlor. It is that little note which causes he to review her life, its sunshine and its shadow, as she sits by her window gazing out at the sky. We have brought our dreamer up in her reverie to the time we find her. She would doubtless have gone on in dreams of the future had she not been roused by the cheery voice of Carl Allen calling her name.

CECIL E. LINK.

RECESSIONAL

- O'er the old school house The shadows softly fall, Over our school days drawing The curtain once for all.
 - 11. Never agam in those dear old halls shall we study our lessons more, For the days when we did so, happiest days, Are now become the days of vore.
 - III. We sit and watch the school house While the mellow soft lights glow, And think of the things which have happened, Since we first to its halls did go.
 - IV. Four long years ago As freshmen we entered the door, Urged by the goads of our parents Nor knew what we had come for.
 - Y. For one slow moving year. The teachers were our gods, We trembled at their frowns. And basked in approxing nods.
 - VI. And then we came to the Sophomore year. To the class where our head grew abnormally large, Where we thought we could do what the teachers did. And improve on it, to i, without charge.

- VII. The next year found us Jumors shrewd, Our heads were now of normal size, That year we led a busy life; We realized how fast time flies.
 - VIII. The fourth year found us Seniors grave Aged in learning, in years, in case, Sublime we rested in harbor safe, After we'd passed through stormy seas.
 - 1X. But the whole four years have passed away As a fleefty winging dream. Four whole long years in rapid flight Have borne us on their fleeting stream.
 - X. We'll never forget thee, dear old school, Nor our teachers, true and kind, Nor those rollicking years, the happiest Or our lives, which are left behind.
 - XI. And now we take a last farewell, Soon we'll be in a distant land. Blessed be these tears which silently drom From our evelids most to this hallowel stlame.
 - XII. While o'er the old school house The shadows softly fall, Over our school days drawing The curtain once for all.

JJ E heartily endorse and recommend to you those merchants and by whose aid we have been enabled to publish this book

GRACE WILDING. Wait a minute, Roy, dear.

GEORGE DAVIS: Take care, the Annual catches such things as that.

DONNA SAYLOR: Oh, don't put that in.

HAMILTON: What's the use of working when you can go to sleep.

HAZEL LONGACRE. There were seventy large forests and they spoke French.

leaders.

MR. LANE: Hilda, have you a note book?

HILDA: No. Sir.

Mr. Lane. Well you can't come to class without one. I guess your father is able to buy one.

McMillen: What can you say of London and Lanchester,

Mr. Parry? PARRY: Well, - London was a rather large city.

McMILLEN: And what of Lanchester?

ARTHUR: Well, --- it was pretty big, too.

McMillen: The book is exciting from beginning to start.

F 1 . N E Commercial Engraving

Halt lones & Zinc Etchings, Designing, Electrotyping.

Panara in

To the Class of '02

"Success"

The Archer Printing Co.

Stromberg-Carlson Telephone

Manufacturing Company

HOME Telephone Co's Exchange

in this city

III'I hest wishes to the 1902 Eniauton and all Independent Telephone users, we cordially invite you to visit our factory when in Chicago

KELLOGG ==== SWITCHBOARD & SUPPLY CO.

Congress and Green Streets

STEPHEN LANE FOLGER

200 BROADWAY

WATCHES, DIAMONDS, JEWELRY
CLUB AND COLLEGE PINS
AND RINGS
GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

NEW YORK

JOHN RABUS

THE TAILOR

116 WEST BERRY STREET

Knight: No, I don't care for girls, unless they're scholars.

 $\mathbf{McMillen}$ to Yarnelle . Pleased with a rattle, playing with a straw.

Mr. Lane (speaking of Senior sale). Every cake and piece α candy is warranted—

George Davis: To last.

Dallas F. Green, the Arcade Jeweler, has just what vou've been looking for so long—Novelties that will make 6ne dandy gifts for any time and any event—graduation and other times.

L. O. HULL ...WALL PAPER...

TO PLEASE YOU

ALL KINDS AND PRICES

830 CALHOUN STREET. OLD NUMBER 90

SAME PLACE, NEAR FRUIT HOUSE

We Give Trading Stamps

Keep your eyes open for the SENIOR EXCURSION to Rome City, June 6, 1902. and

HIGH SCHOOL FIFLD D.17, Driving Park, June 13

Siemon & Bro.

Booksellers

1.5.1

Stationers

M. J. BLITZ

Cigars, Tobaccos,

Smokers' Articles

ALSO

INSURANCE

OF ALL KINDS

822 CALHOUN STREET

OPPOSITE COURT HOUSE

BUY YOUR...

COFFEE AND TEAS

OF

ANDERSON

No. 1 ARCADE

A COMPLETE LINE OF

Hammocks Baseball Goods Golf Sticks Striking Bags Etc., at

LEHMAN
BOOK AND NEWS CO.

GO TO THE

TEMPLE OF EGONOMY

A. R. HILLS, WAIN STIPLE

We are Particularly Anxious

TO count in ord control to the St. Hagh School community, may man start by the St. Is that it was a straight and start s Shield's Clothing Co.

रम रम रम रम

ଜନ୍ୟନ ଜନ୍ୟନ

ଜନ୍ୟନ ଜନ୍ୟନ

ଜନ୍ୟନ ଜନ୍ୟନ

ଦେବ ଦେବ

THE F. BISSELL CO.

114-116 ST. CLAIR STREET

TOLEDO, O.

TOBBERS OF

Electrical Supplies and Machinery

General Repair Shop

Switchboards

NATIONAL TELEPHONE CABLES

exex F. B. CO. SPECIALTIES

WHITE FRUIT HOUSE ___

GROCERIES, TEAS, COFFEES, BOOTS, SHOES, QUEENS-WARE, GLASSWARE, DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, CARPETS, DRAPERIES, OIL CLOTHS, LINOLEUMS, HOUSEHOLD GOODS, MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS, ETC.

We Can Save You at Least 25 Per Cent. on the Dollar

Thieme Bros.

TAILORS

112 West Berry Street

GREAT NOVELTIES IN LONDON SPECIALTIES

DOROTHY ALBRECHT:
Jack and Jill
Went up the hill
To get a stick of candy,
Jack fell down
And broke his crown

But Jill came in darn handy.

ERMA DOCHTERMANN (translating Latin): The eagle snatches him in his clawed feet—no, I mean his three-pronged feet.

MR. LANE: This box is a problem and we ought to make an example of him.

Crowe: Robert Feustel used to be a good steady boy, but he has sadly changed in the last month. It must be a bad case!

Visit Our Store While In the City

----White-----National Bank

Capital, $200,000 Surplus, $80,000

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent Corner Wayne and Clinton Sts.

Banner Laundering Company

1317 CALHOUN STREET

DOMESTIC OR GLOSS FINISH

Give Us a Trial

BOTH PHONES No. 165

HOME PHONE 53

BELL PHONE 53

C. W. FULTON, Proprietor

City Livery Stables

EVERYTHING FIRST-CLASS

118 WEST WAYNE STREET Next Door to Sentinel Office Fort Wayne, Ind.

APRIL 23. (Edward Olds and Samuel Morris are absent.)
McMillen: Mr. Olds and Mr. Morris are evidently getting married.

Mac. (a little later, speaking of Antony): He could go to a wedding last night and be at recitation this morning.

TITUS (writing on "Signs of Spring."): The young crowes have begun to play in the yard and the lanes are rather green.

A. FOSTER: She bewails her woe.

ELIZABETH EVANS (in Greek): I have forgotten what a case is.

HE CAN'T GRIND, BUT HE CAN SELL GROCERIES

FRANK H. HILGEMANN

405 WEST JEFFERSON STREET

Hugust Bruder

Jeweler

Cor. Cathoun and Clarne Sts.

fort Clavne, Indiana

Home Phone No. 688 GEO. D. OHNECK & CO.
Proprietors

THE "OHNECK" CAFE

Finest Place for Ladies and Gentlemen

QUICK SERVICE

Game and Sea Food Dinner and Supper Parties in Season a Specialty

122 and 124 E. Berry Street

FORT WAYNE, INDIANA

The following extract is taken from Williams' grind book; please find the point.

Fig. 7: The other das I met Dunten on the street and said, "Hello, Dunten." He said, "Hello, Knight." "Who, my name's not Knight," I said. "No more is mine, Dunten," he said. And here it turned out to be neither one of us.

Tigar blows his nose while Marion Baker is reading. (Myrion: What did you say?

McMillers. Oh, go on! My voice has often been complimented, but never before has it been likened to a Tigar blowing his nose.

A. McK vv. What was Hannibal doing when Rome was in Syracuse?

G.B. WOODWORTH & GO

DRUGGISTS

No. 1 Aveline House

FORT WAYNE, IND.

.

CLEARY & BAILEY

JOB_PRINTERS

412 Calhoun Street, Second Flodt

FORT WAYNE, IND.

We do th kind of Good Protting By Try for all kind of Good Proce 47 CO

Home Phones 628 Main and 2 on 1670

J. H. Bohne & Bro.

Hatters and Men's Furnishers

824 and 1416 Calhoun St.

FORT WAYNE, INDIANA

Compliments of

The McIntosh-Huntington Co.

Jobbers of Hardware and TELEPHONE SUPPLIES

E. C. MILLER

Fort Wayne Representative

DO YOU BUY GOOD GROCERIES? IF SO THEN WHY NOT PLACE YOUR NEXT ORDER WITH

The Greatest Grocery Co.

They Have the Most Up-to-Date Store in the City. They Carry Everything in the Line.

No Nicer Goods, No Better or Bigger Display.

The Biggest VALUES Here.

The Greatest Grocery Company

OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

Three Phones: Home 315, 366; Bell 378

W. J. & M. S. VESEY FLORISTS

90 THOMPSON AVENUE

Phones: Home 231 South, Bell 316

Leave Your Orders for AMERICAN BEAUTIES OR PINK AND WHITE ROSES FOR COM-MENCEMENT. RED, PINK AND WHITE CARNATIONS IN VARIETY. LEAVE, YOUR ORDERS EARLY AND COME AT ALL TIMES

Also for Sale at

LYDIA E. AUGER'S, 16 E. Washington Street

FOR A REFRESHING GLASS OF SODA

MANUEL & STIER

Opposite Cathedral

1108 CALHOUN STREET

FRESH HOME-MADE CANDY

Do you know that we are always in the market to buy and sell all kinds of old

RIDE A

Wolff-American Bicycle MEYER CYCLE CO.

SELL THEM

All Kinds of Repairing Promptly Done

203 AND 205 W. BERRY ST.

BOTH PHONES 160

ESTABLISHED 1876

Troy Steam Laundry

Office and Works, 48-50 Pearl Street

F. L. JONES & CO., Proprietors

BEST WORK IN THE CITY

NO CHEAP JOHN JOINT

OUR MOTTO: AMERICAN LAUNDRIES FOR AMERICANS

United States and Foreign Postage and Revenue Stamps.....

GALL AND SEE US

Kekionga Stamp Co.

No. 9 East Main Street

FRANK K. HILLS, Manager

When all my thinks in vain are thunk,
When all my winks in vain are wunk,
What saves me from a dismal flunk?
—My Pony.

for Novelties in Silks and Dress Goods
Ladies' Mraps
Ladies' Neckwear
Carpets and Rugs

frank Dry Goods Company

Mr. Lane to Hamilton ... What a looking creature you are'

Dallas F. Green, Jeweler and Optician, has the finest lot of pleasing nicknacks in the city. If you don't believe it, call around and see. A visit will speedily convince you.

 $Mon\alpha/Hale$: Ten pounds of mercury weigh more than ten pounds of water.

GLENN SAWYER: The verb has no ending.

Mr. VonKahlden: Where? Sawyer: On the end.

H. WAGENHALS (to Alice Foster). Why don't you buy a pony for a dollar and a half?

ALICE: Oh, I'd rather have a hov.

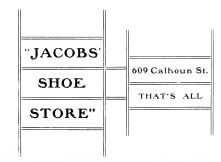

Mr. Lane (to Junior class, after much laughter upon their part): It does not take very much to stir shallow water.

EDMUNDS

ELECTRIC
WIRING
AND FIXTURES

Telephone No. 262

FOSTER'S Shirt Waist:

make sweet sixteen look sixteen times sweeter.

Leisure Hours

LUXURIOUSLY spent in intelligent enjoyment, can be made doubly delicious by refined and beautiful surroundings. The pleasure of the senses are ministered to at the same time and no one can cater to the natural desire like

The PAPE FURNITURE COMPANY

Who can furnish your house with the most attractive Furniture to be found anywhere. Our stock is filled with novelties in this line beyond compare.

PapeFurniture Company

128 and 130 & & East Berry Street

Every Person, Young at Old, Should Keep a Bank Account, However Small. By the Dering You Acquire Habits of Thift and Economy.

NOS I JOSEAN PROPERTY IN THE STREET

Chas. F. Pfeiffer, Third Vice-Pres Ernet W. Cook, Secretary

The Citizens Trust Co.

COR. BERRY AND CLINTON STREETS

CAPITAL, $200,000.00.

Interest Paid on Deposits

Save the Dimes and the Dollars Will Take Care of Themselves. A Plan for a Savings Fund for Everybody

OUR MOTTO:

Safety, Courtesy, Promptness, Liberality

We Want Your Savings Account

Call at the Office of The Citizens Trust Company for a Safe

CORRECT FOOTWEAR...

FOR SOCIAL FUNCTIONS

$3.50 "LEGAL"

FOR GENTS.

Patent Leathers
In Oxfords or High
Lace Shoes.

Newest Shapes, Perfect Fitting. The Best Meterials, The Fatorite Shoe, $3.50 "SOROSIS"

The Perfected Shoes for Ladies. Oxfords or High

Cuts.

Patent or Vici Kid.

Top Notch of Style, Comfort and Dirability

PROF. TEN STRIKE

HOOSIER SHOE STORE

O. B. FIICH, Prop.

The Street Car Transfer Corner is 124 feet and 8 inches south of Our Store.

NINDE BROS.

ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW

204 W. BERRY STREET

FORT WAYNE, INDIANA

GLOBE PAINLESS DENTISTRY

WE ARE LEADERS IN PAINLESS DENTISTRY

It Will pay you to visit our Dental Parlors and get our prices on First-class
Guaranteed Dentistry

WE USE VITILIZED AIR FOR PAINLESS EXTRACTION WHEN DESIRED.

PERFECT CROWN AND BRIDGE WORK

Full Set Tecth Gold Fillings	$2.50	Examination Extraction	-	FRIL
Silver Fillings .	250	Cleining		FREE

Globe Painless Dentists

74 Calhoun Street

WE AIM * * *

TO fit the eyes of our customers and to give perfect service. We test eyes free of charge and we fit glasses accurately. These are glasses you can rely on.

Dr. F. E. Gifford, Specialist

44 CALHOUN STREET

Over Mergentheim's FORT WAYNE, IND.

DR. H. L. JAMIESON

44 CALHOUN ST.
Over Mergentheim's
Fort Wayne, Ind.

BESSIE CONNER: William Penn was the son of his father.

For Graduation Trinkets of all prices and all kinds, big or little, simple or dazzling, go to Dallas F. Green, Arcade Jeweler.

RASTETTER: He inherited his land to the Romans.

E. GRIFFITHS. The first naval victory was a failure.

MR. LANE (to Miss Elinor Bond): Don't start to tell what you don't know, as it will take forever.

Durnell: If you go on a tear it's all right, but if your trousers go on a tear it's all wrong.

W. Thomas: If a dog has tin can tied to its tail it certainly would be a tale of woe.

- Willison (at debate): The women a schildren were literally murdered to death. (Effect—Very pathetic)

